LAND BATTLE NEAR SANTIAGO DE CUBA; THIRTEEN AMERICAN SOLDIERS KILLED

Roosevelt's Rough Riders Lose Six of Their Men---Spaniards Driven Back Into the City---Fight Took Place Within Five Miles of Santiago Yesterday Morning.

ON BOARD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH BOAT WANDA, OFF JURAGUA, FRIDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 24, VIA PLAYA DEL ESTE, GUANTANAMO BAY, JUNE 24.--8 p. m.---This morning (Friday) four troops of the First Cavalry, four troops of the Tenth Cavalry and eight troops of Roosevelt's Rough Riders, less than a thousand men in all dismounted and attacked 2,000 Spanish soldiers in thickets within five miles of Santiago de Cuba. The Americans beat the enemy back into the city, but they left the following dead upon the field:

AMERICANS KILLED IN THE BATTLE.

ROUGH RIDERS: CAPTAIN ALLYN K. CAPRON, of troop L; SERGEANT HAMILTON FISH, Jr.; Privates TILMAN and DAWSON, both of troop L; Private DOUGHERTY, of troop A; Private W. T. ERWIN, of troop F. First Cavalry: Privates DIX, YORK, BEJORK, KOLBE, BERLIN and LENMOCK. Tenth Cavalry: CORPORAL WHITE. At least fifty Americans were wounded including six officers. Several of the wounded will die. Twelve dead Spaniards were found in the bush after the fight, but their loss is doubtless far in excess of that.

General Young commanded the expedition and was with the regulars, while Colonel Wood directed the operations of the Rough Riders several miles west. Both parties struck the Spaniards about the same time and the fight lasted an hour. The Spaniards opened fire from the thick brush and had every advantage of numbers and position, but the troops drove them back from the start, stormed the block house around which they made the final stand and sent them scattering over the mountains.

The cavalrymen were afterwards re-enforced by the Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth Infantry, part of the Ninth Cavalry, the Second Massachusetts and the Seventy-First New York. The Americans now hold the position at the threshold of Santiago de Cuba with more troops going forward constantly, and they are preparing for a final assault upon the city.

LIST OF THE WOUNDED.

The following officers were wounded: MAJOR BRODIE, shot through the right forearm; CAPTAIN McCLINTOCK, troop B, shot through the right leg; LIEUTENANT J. R. THOMAS, troop L, shot through the right leg, his condition is serious. All the foregoing officers are Rough Riders.

The other officers wounded are: CAPTAIN KNOX, whose condition is serious, MAJOR BELL, LIEUTENANT BRYAN. These officers are of the First Cavalry. The following are among the soldiers wounded:

ROUGH RIDERS, TROOP B--Privates E. M. Hill, Shelly F. Ishler, M. S. Newcomb, Fred N. Beale and Corporal J. D. Rhodes.

TROOP E--Corporal Jas. F. Beane, Privates Frank B. Booth, Albert C. Hartle, R. G. Bailey, H. Alvers, E. J. Atherton, Clifford Reed and Sergeant G. W. Arringo.

TROOP G--Sergeant Thomas F. Cavanaugh, Corporal L. L. Stewart, Privates George Rowland, H. J. Haefner, Michael Coyle, R. M. Reid and M. Russell.

TROOP L--Privates J. R. Kean, P. Dernap, Thos. F. Meagher, Edward Calborst and Nathanial Poe.

TENTH CAVALRY, TROOP B--Privates Russell, Gaines, Miller, Cross, Braxton and Wheeler.

TROOP I--Privates Ridd and Mayberry.

Edward Marshall, correspondent of The New York Journal and Advertiser, was seriously wounded in the small of the back.

It is probable that at least ten in the list of wounded will die.

NO OFFICIAL REPORT RECEIVED.

WASHINGTON, JUNE 25.---Up to 2 o'clock a. m. neither the President nor Secretary Alger had received official news concerning the land engagement near Santiago which occurred yesterday morning. The Associated Press conveyed to both President and Secretary Alger the only information concerning the battle they have received.

FISH A PROMINENT NEW YORK MAN.

NEW YORK, JUNE 24.---Hamilton Fish, Jr., one of the killed, was one of the young New Yorkers of good position and family who went to the front with Roosevelt's Rough Riders. He was of distinguished ancestry, his family being one of the oldest in this state. His father, Nicholas Fish, is the son of the late Hamilton Fish who was Secretary of State in Grant's cabinet. He is a banker and lives in this city. Hamilton Fish was over six feet tall, of Herculean build and rowed as number seven of the Columbia College crew in its winning race of 1894 over the Poughkeepsie course.

WOUNDED WELL KNOWN IN THE WEST.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, JUNE 24.---Major N. A. Brodie, who was wounded in today's battle near Santiago, is a graduate of West Point and a noted Indian fighter. Lieutenant J. R. Thomas of Indian Territory is a son of Federal Judge Thomas. Captain J. S. McClintock, of Phoeniz, Arizona, is a newspaper man, formerly reporter for the Associated Press for several western states. Corporal J. D. Rhodes is a noted scout and "trailer" of Arizona.

WILL RE-ENFORCE SHAFTER HEAVILY

20,000 More Troops Are To Be Hurried to Santiago.

MILES WILL GO TO THE FRONT

American Battleships May Be Sent Across Atlantic to Spain.

ADMINISTRATION IS DETERMINED

Should Camara's Fleet Be Sent Through Suez Canal to the Philippines, United States Squadron Will Toss Shells Into Spanish Cities.

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, June 24.—(Special.)—Experienced officers appreciate the fact that the task before General Shafter is no child's play. The best evidence of the seriousness of the situation is established by the fact that 20,000 additional troops are to be sent to Santiago. Porto Rico is temporarily lost sight of, and the whole force of Shafter's army is to be thrown aagainst Santiago.

It is not generally known that such a large addition is to be made to Shafter's command, but it is a fact nevertheless that the transports which conveyed the first expedition to Santiago have been ordered back to Tampa to get 20,000 troops to reinforce Shafter.

The anxiety of General Miles to go to the front now, and the confusion which surrounds his future movements is the subject for much comment. It is said at headquarters that he is going to Santiago not to relieve Shafter, but simply to do duty in the field. When he is to go, and how he is make the journey, is a matter of conjecture, for no two reports of his intentions are alike. It is said that he is anxious to participate in the fall of Santiago because he realizes that the expedition to Porto Rico which he had expected to lead, is packed away in cold storage for the present.

The war is to be carried into Africa, metaphorically speaking, if Spain is foolhardy enough to send the Cadiz fleet through the Suez canal to attack Dewey in the Philippines.

It is announced on good authority that before the last Spanish vessel has passed through the canal an American squadron will be steaming at full speed across the Atlantic straight for the coast of Spain to bring the war home to the Spanish people.

There is no doubt that Dewey can take care of himself against this Cadiz fleet, since his own squadron will be re-enforced by ironclads long before Camara's ships sight the bay of Manila, and he will have the shore batteries with him instead of against him in the struggle.

But it has been concluded by the administration that nothing save the most severe measures will suffice to bring the Spanish people to a realizing sense of the hopelessness of the continuance of the present war, and even kindness, it is held, will dictate such a blow as that it is proposed to administer if the Spanish persist in this last project.

After the fall of Santiago and the capture or destruction of Cervera's squadron Sampson will have an abundance of vessels to spare for the task set for him.

Probably he will constitute the attacking fleet in two squadrons—the first a flying squadron, to be composed of the swiftest vessels of the fleet, such as the Columbia, Minneapolis, Harvard, Yale, St. Louis, St. Paul, New Orleans and such craft. This will be followed under another command, either Sampson or Schley, by the battleships, which Captain Clark's experience with the Oregon has shown can easily be counted on for the voyage across the Atlantic. With the Iowa, Oregon, Indiana, Massachusetts, all battleships, supplementing the New York and Brooklyn, armored cruisers, and the less powerful but speedy vessels of the flying squadron, the Spanish coast would be speedily swept clear of all commerce, all Spanish shipping would be closed and some of the best ports blockaded or bombarded.

No Official News from the Army.

No official news came to the war department during office hours from our army near Santiago.

This was a cause for mild surprise at the department, as General Shafter has a cable at his command, and it was expected he would report the measure of success he has attained in the debarkation of his army on Cuban soil, and the beginning of operations against Santiago. However, the general has the reputation of being a man of deeds, and of not being given to over-many official reports. Not hearing from him, the officials were obliged to rely entirely upon press reports. They found these highly satisfactory, and Secretary Alger expressed particular gratification at the news that the troops had reached a point within seven miles of Morro castle without encountering serious resistance.

The direction taken by the troops after their landing at Baiquiri—trending generally westward—is taken in some quarters here to indicate a purpose to unite with Sampson's fleet in an attack on Morro castle and the other forts at the entrance of Santiago harbor before turning their attention to the town itself. Once the fort is captured, Sampson, with small boats, could remove the mines and if, as reported, the Merrimac does not completely obstruct the channel, some of the battleships may be sent in to deal with Cervera's squadron as a last resort. Something of this kind is believed to be necessary in order to relieve our troops from the fire of the Spanish fleet when they attack Santiago directly.

Could Keep Cervera's Squadron Busy.

One or two of the battleships, supplemented by a few torpedo boats, could be relied upon to keep Cerevra's squadron so fully occupied that he would have no time to get to the troops attacking Santiago from the rear.

With great satisfaction the navy department today published Sampson's statement that Hobson and his men are well and not in the line of fire.

It was also noted that Sampson finds no difficulty in having his flag of truce respected, which is gratifying in view of the statement coming from Havana some days ago that there was to be a lapse into barbarism through the refusal of the Spaniards to recognize flags of truce.

The war department expects a decisive battle between the Americans and Spaniards within the next twenty-four hours, which will result in the fall of Santiago. Adjutant General Corbin, to whom all dispatches in regard to the army now come, has been receiving press dispatches all morning and about noon gave his opinion that a battle between the two forces could not be much longer prevented.

He was not worried over the absence of official dispatches, because he said that if General Shafter had gone toward Santiago with the army, he certainly would not go back to the cable office to send dispatches, and would leave that business to the newspaper men who were there for that purpose.

Quick Communication Established.

Admiral Sampson is now in constant and practically immediate cable communication with the navy department. Six dispatches were received in rapid succession through the early hours of this morning, the last one bringing the situation to 12 o'clock last night. They showed that only a half hour elapsed between the filing of the message by the admiral and the receipt of it in Washington, so that the authorities here are now assured of being only a half hour behind the actual developments at the scene of action.

The only message bearing on the general situation was one in which Admiral Sampson said that under a flag of truce he learned that Hobson and his men were well, and had been removed from Morro castle to the city of Santiago, four miles distant. This action, coupled with the report of the naval surgeons that our dead marines were not mutilated, conveys a sense of relief to the authorities here, as they feel that the warfare now about to culminate in bloody fighting will be at least mitigated by those humane rules which govern the action of modern armies on the field.

The News of Yesterday's Fight.

The other dispatches from Admiral Sampson covered a multitude of details, which have been deferred in the absence of quick communication. They made requisitions for routine supplies of every description, and indicated needed repairs, mostly minor in character, to the vessels of the fleet. Not a word was said as to any engagement by the troops under General Shafter, and as the admiral is in close communication with General Shafter, naval officials regard this failure of the admiral to mention any action by the troops as conclusive in showing that no action took place yesterday, as was reported by the Spanish.

During the forenoon a dispatch came to General Greely, chief signal officer, from Lieutenant Colonel Allen, who is in charge of the telegraphic communication with the army. It was dated at Playa del Este, and simply indicated that he was making arrangements to extend communication along the shore as far as Aquedores, which is probably about sixteen miles further to the westward than Playa del Este.

The dispatch made no mention of any battle or other change in the situation, military or naval. From the fact that Colonel Allen is working his line westward to Aquedores, it is evident to the military authorities that the field of land action will be stretched a considerable distance along the shore, covering probably from five to fifteen miles. This will constitute the base of supplies, where the stores will be kept and with which the advancing army at all times will keep up its line of communication, the first essential of an advancing army being considered to be that of keeping up its line of communication with the base of supplies.

THE LANDING AT BAIQUIRI.

Flag Station Where General Shafter Landed, and the Coast Line Near Santiago.

Off Baiquiri, June 23 (Thursday), 8 a. m., via Port Antonio, Jamaica, June 24 (Friday), 4 a. m. (By way of the Halifax direct cable)—Before sunset last night over 4,000 of the 16,500 on board the transports went ashore. General Kent, with seven troops, will remain west of Santiago as a feint until the remainder of the troops here are landed. General Garcia arrived at camp before dark and 1,500 of his Cubans are expected to effect a juncture with General Shafter's men today.

As soon as the various commands were landed yesterday they were pushed out in the direction of Santiago. At dark they bivouacked and were strung out in a column three miles long, the front resting at Demajayho and the rear of the column within a mile of the base at Baiquiri in the following order:

Colonel Wagner with a reconnoissance party at Demajaho, a mile in advance of General Lawton's headquarters; the Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth colored infantry resting at a small creek; the Second Massachusetts, the Twelfth infantry, first battalion of the Fourth infantry, two companies of the Tenth infantry and the second battalion of the Fourth Infantry.

General Bates's men, who are on reserve, and General Lawton's "Jones" rough riders dismounted and fragments of several regiments bivouacked at Baiquiri last night, the landing proceeding until dawn. The men slept on the bare ground, some under the tent flies and some under the starlit canopy. In the morning they washed and were in good spirits. The only disagreeable feature was the mosquitoes and land insects.

All the men are anxious to get at the foe, and the regiments are to be pushed on to support General Lawton as fast as they are landed.

Late yesterday afternoon the American flag was flown from the top of the Altares mountains, back of Baiquiri, amid wild enthusiasm. The men cheered and waved their hats, the warships and the transports let loose their sirens and the bands played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Major Lamotte, with two men of the volunteer cavalry, climbed the heights and raised the flag.

The Spanish-American iron works, which were destroyed before the troops landed yesterday, belonged to the Steelton company, near Baltimore, Md.

The Cubans under General Demetrius Castillo who entered Baiquiri when the Spaniards had deserted the town were clothed with rags and many of them were two-thirds naked.

Some had no trousers and only tattered shirts, while the majority of them were barefooted. They were mostly negroes, some being boys of only fifteen years of age. The guns they carried were of many models, ranging from flint-locks to Mausers and Remingtons. All, however, were armed with machetes. The officers rode donkeys and scrub horses. The sun was blazing hot and a number of the soldiers were prostrated by the intense heat and were taken on board the hospital ship.

The troops are in fine spirits and overjoyed at the aggressive attitude assumed by General Shafter, who believes he can force his way into Santiago and strike the Spanish a heavy blow.

The celerity of the forward movement of the United States army has embarrassed the quartermaster's department. General Lawton sent back this afternoon an urgent request for more rations. The mules and stores are already ashore, but some of the trappings are still on board the ships. They will be taken off during the night. Colonel Humphrey's says he will have a pack train loaded and on its way by daylight tomorrow. It should reach Juragua before night. An attempt to send supplies to Juragua this afternoon in boats failed.

IS BELIEVED TO BE A BLUFF; MOVEMENT OF CAMARA'S FLEET

By JOS: OHL.

Washington, June 24.—(Special.)—State department advices received this morning confirmed the first reports of the presence of Camara's fleet off Pantellaria. While this news was in the nature of a surprise, in view of the former advices which placed this fleet at Cartagena, it has caused no uneasiness. Indeed, there seems to be genuine indifference as to what becomes of that fleet.

Members of the strategic board were at first inclined to believe that this movement meant undoubtedly that the fleet was bound for Suez canal and Manila, but they now seem inclined to the theory that this is but another Spanish bluff, and that there will never be an attempt to take the fleet through the canal. If this should come, there is supreme confidence in Dewey's ability to demolish this fleet, as he did the other.

A member of the strategy board gave it as his opinion, in talking with me, that this movement is made purely for effect on the Spanish populace, and that the fleet after, perhaps, a few more days, would put back to Spain. If it does not, then we will certainly send the flying squadron across to the coast of Spain. He gave it as his conviction, that Dewey, with his force, augmented by two large monitors now on the way to him, and with American gunners in charge of the guns at the entrance to Manila harbor, would have easy work in attending to this Camara fleet.

Seen Off Pantellarie.

The state department has received advices confirming the report that the Spanish Cadiz squadron is in the Mediterrean, moving eastward. The dispatch is from an agent of the department in Algiers, and was as follows:

"Captain Moon, of the English steamer Hampton, informs me that he passed on the 22d at 3 p. m., off Pantellaria the Spanish squadron bound east—fifteen ships, including transports laden with troops and three torpedo boats."

SHAFTER MUST WORK RAPIDLY

Pando May Send Re-enforcements to Linares at Santiago.

HE HAS 10,000 SOLDIERS

Men Are the Pick of the Spanish Army and Are Hard Fighters.

AMERICANS WOULD HAVE HARD TASK

Washington Officials Are Apprehensive That the Two Spanish Commanders Might Form a Combination and Make the Result Doubtful.

Washington, June 24.—Notwithstanding the official Spanish reports of heavy fighting between the American invading forces and the Spanish forces near Santiago, army officers here are confident that no engagement of any moment has occurred between these troops. Part of the landing project was a movement in force by the Cubans across the country to prevent the Spanish forces concentrating upon the beach to oppose the landing of the American troops taken in connection with Sampson's plan of blinding the Spaniards to the real landing place by an indiscriminate harrying of the coast for twenty miles east and west. The scheme worked admirably so far as the American troops are concerned, as was evidenced by their landing without the loss of a man. It is suspected, however, the Cubans have had to pay for this exemption on the part of the Americans and that the engagements described in the Spanish dispatch were really between the Cubans and the Spaniards far back in the rear, instead of between the Americans and Spaniards. Seeing that the Cubans, who were almost without clothing, had been supplied by Sampson and Shafter, it is conceivable that the Spaniards might easily mistake them for American soldiers at a little distance.

Pando May Send Re-enforcements.

The news coming from Jamaica that General Pando is sending heavy re-enforcements to the Spanish General Linares in Santiago, is likely to have the effect of hastening the campaign against that town by the Americans. Pando has 10,000 soldiers at Holguin, less than 100 miles from Santiago. They are the pick of the Spanish army in Cuba, and their commander is known as the fighting general. Were they to combine with the Spanish force in Santiago, the American campaign might be very much prolonged and the task set for our troops would be much heavier. Two factors have been relied upon to prevent this combination. The first is the very rough nature of the country between Holguin and Santiago, which would be exceedingly difficult for troops to cover in less than four or five days at the earliest. The second is the active efforts of the Cubans to harass the Spaniards on the march and retard their movements. With the force they now have in that country, the Cubans could do this very effectually, but they could scarcely undertake to absolutely check the whole Spanich force of 10,000 men.

Cervera Will Defend Santiago.

The repohts from Santiago indicate that the Spanish admiral is using his squadron exactly as was anticipated, to defend the town from attack by soldiers in the rear. This only emphasizes in the mind of army officers the necessity for speedy action on the part of the invaders, for with Pando's men to re-enforce the garrison and Cervera's squadron in full play, the Spanish force would be, from a militady point of view, much stronger than the combined force of Americans under Shafter and Cubans under Garcia and Rabi.

It is believed that considerable reliance must be placed upon the American siege train, for as soon as the heavy siege guns are in place on the crest of the hills, it is expected that the position of the Spanish admiral below, exposed to a plunging fire, will be untenable, and he will be obliged to either surrender or make a desperate attempt to escape from Santiago harbor.

The naval authorities here are satisfied that no Spanish warship has escaped from Santiago harbor so far, and the Spanish newspaper stories to the effect that "the cruiser Reina Christina escaped from Santiago," etc., were received here with a good deal of amusement. As one officer put it, the Spaniards must be possessed of a regular "Flying Dutchman" in the Reina Christina, for, at last accounts, and very recent ones, too, that particular vessel was lying in the bottom of Manila bay, where Dewey had sunk her on May day. The story is regarded as a fair example of those put afloat to deceive the Spaniards at home and give comfort to their friends in Europe.

Maria Christina Causes Speculation.

The formal statement by the Spanish minister of marine that the Maria Christina had succeeded in running the blockade into Cienfuegos naturally demanded more attention than the first publication, although the officials do not hesitate to express doubt of its accuracy. This vessel is not, as may be supposed, a formidable warcraft, but is nothing more than one of the ships of the trans-Atlantic company of Cadiz, hastily fitted up with a few five-and-one-half-inch guns. She was built in 1888, and is a sixteen-knot vessel, of 4,381 tons displacement. If she has got into Cienfuegos, she has crossed over from some of the smaller islands of the West Indies, or maybe from Porto Rico. It is believed, however, that if the vessel actually reached Cuba, she has got in at Batabano or perhaps Manzanillo, both of which ports are outside the blockade lines.

There has been so much talk of Spanish vessels "running the blockade" when, as a matter of fact, if they came to Cuba at all, they entered some unblockaded port, that the officials are here beginning to recognize a deliberate purpose on the part of persons secretly hostile to the United States to give basis for the Spanish representations made to European courts that our blockade is ineffectual. No vessel that enters a port outside of the blockade lines can be said to have "run the blockade," and the number of vessels that have really entered or escaped from blockaded ports is exceedingly small. In fact, taking the number actually known, from the official records, it would appear that the present blockade of Cuba by the American fleet has been the most successful ever known when the extent of the blockaded territory is considered.

WILL SAIL FOR MANILA MONDAY

Troops Will Be Loaded on Transports at San Francisco Tomorrow.

San Francisco, June 24.—Arrangements for the sailing of the next expedition of troops for Manila are practically complete and every effort will be made to start on Monday, but the probability is that there will be some further delay.

Major General Merritt has left the matter of embarkation to the control of General Otis. It is expected to begin Sunday.

The whole quota of troops, including those who are to go on the Newport with General Merritt on Wednesday, as well as those which have been assigned to the five transports scheduled to sail on Monday, number roughly 6,000 men.

The Peru, which arrived today, will be taken by the government for transport service. It will take two or three days to discharge her and then she will be made ready for use in the fourth expedition.

ONE MILLION QUININE PILLS.

Vast Quantity of the Drug Has Been Sent to Cuba for Soldiers.

Washington, June 24.—Through the foresight of Surgeon General Sternberg, of the army, the troops which have gone to Santiago, as well as the insurgents who may join the army, will be well supplied with quinine so necessary to health in tropical climates.

The need of this article of medicine is brought forcibly to the attention of the department in the telegram received by General Miles from one his aids, who said that one of the needs of the insurgents is quinine.

"The United States army," said General Sternberg, "is equipped with three months' supply of medicines, and of this quinine forms a good share."

In addition to the supply already on the ships the hospital vessel Relief will take to Santiago 1,000,000 quinine pills, which the general believes will last the army a reasonable time.

Under Command of General Wheaton.

Thomasville, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—The First Texas and the First Louisiana regiments of volunteers passed through this city today en route to Miami from Mobile. Brigadier General Wheaton accompanied the Texas troops.

SAMPSON HEARS FROM HOBSON AND HIS MEN UNDER A FLAG OF TRUCE

Off Santiago de Cuba, Thursday, June 23.—2 p. m.—By the Associated Press Dispatch Boat to Kingston, Jamaica, Filed Friday, June 24.—Noon.—This morning a flag of truce was taken in by Assistant Chief of Staff Staunton to ascertain the whereabouts of the Merrimac prisoners, Lieutenant Hobson and his daring companions. The Colon, a Spannish tug with Captain Concas, formerly commander of the Caravel Santa Junta, on board, came out to meet him. Captain Concas stated that Lieutenant Hobson and his men were confined in Santiago town. They were all well and he (Captain Concas) said he felt sorry they could not be given their liberty, but the authorities thought it inadvisable. Assistant Chief of Staff Staunton then returned to his ship.

JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT MAKES PEOPLE STRONG

GERMANY SHOWS A NEUTRAL HAND

Cabinet Meeting Develops Kaiser's Attitude in the Philippines.

ALL DOUBT IS NOW REMOVED

Administration Receives Assurances from High Official Sources.

NO INTERFERENCE WILL BE MADE

President and His Ministers Deny That Germany Has Been Given Permission to Land Marines at Manila, and Assert Dewey Has Control.

Washington, June 24.—The only important development at today's cabinet meeting was the positive settlement of the question of the attitude of Germany with respect to the Philippines. The secretary of state has received assurances which settle beyond question all doubts on this point. Germany has no intention, present or prospective, of interfering in any way with the policy or plans of the United States in regard to the occupation of the islands.

Its attitude has been and will continue to be one of strict neutrality.

This statement, coming from high official sources, is accepted by this government in perfect good faith and is regarded as final and conclusive. No further attention will be paid by this government to any reports to the contrary, which are constantly being sent out, it is said, in the interest of Spain.

In the official reports received from Admiral Dewey at Manila there has never been any intimation that the German government or any other nation by its naval representative has ever shown the least disposition to overstep the line of strict neutrality, nor has there been any reason to believe that their sympathies were strongly with the Spaniards in the present struggle.

Germany Has Not Interfered.

It can be stated positively that since the arrival of Admiral Diedrich with German warships at Manila no instructions whatever relating to the Manila situation have been sent from the German foreign office to the German ambassador at Washington, nor has the subject assumed a phase where instructions of any kind have passed during the last three weeks. This disposes of various reports, based on the fact that Dr. Von Holleben, the German ambassador, called on the secretary of state yesterday, that being the regular diplomatic day.

This statement is made from authoritative sources to show that no basis exists for the story that Dr. Von Holleben requested and secured permission for the landing of German marines at Manila to protect the German consulate.

It is said at the navy department that Admiral Dewey is the supreme authority at Manila. If troops, marines or sailors are landed at that place from any neutral man-of-war it will be with his permission. It is not questioned here that a nation may properly seek such permission when it is deemed essential to protect its citizens, its consulate and its interests, but it is usual in such cases for the neutral commander to seek the permission of the investing admiral if it is possible to prefer the request.

No such landing by any possibility could be properly construed into the acquirement of a right to remain in possession of any territory in the Philippines, and our government does not for a moment contemplate that any of the European powers would attempt to set up any such claim, which would be resisted to the full extent of our military and naval power.

Camara's Squadron Sighted.

London, June 24.—A special dispatch from Algiers says that the British steamer Hampton reports that she passed Admiral Camara's squadron, including five or six cruisers and about twelve transports, Wednesday morning sailing at half speed to the eastward. The ships showed no colors. The cruisers were towing torpedo boats.

AMERICANS' WORK SURPRISES SPAIN

Shafter's Easy Landing a Great Disappointment in Madrid.

GOVERNMENT IS DESPONDENT

Cortes Has Been Suspended and a Crisis Is Imminent.

FINAL SESSION WAS A WARM ONE

It Is the General Opinion That the Cabinet Will Resign and That Its Successor Will At Once Sue for Peace.

Madrid, June 24.—The government has received a long dispatch from Cuba announcing that a battle has occurred near Santiago de Cuba by sea and land.

The Spaniards are sadly disappointed with the ease with which General Shafter effected a landing and at the retreat toward Santiago, which is regarded as a bad omen.

It is persistently reported, though the rumor lacks official confirmation, that the government has received a further dispatch from Manila.

The republican deputies met tonight and elaborated a plan of political action during the suspension of the cortes.

Great importance is attached to the cabinet council summoned for tomorrow. It is possible that a crisis will be provoked.

The decree of the queen regent suspending the cortes was read in the senate this afternoon.

Prior to the reading of the decree in the chamber of deputies, which was crowded, as were also the galleries, Senor Salmeron, the republican leader, declared that some of his remarks had been omitted from the official report of yesterday's proceedings.

The president of the chamber, Marquis Vega D'Armijo, said the omission must be attributed to the uproar, which had probably prevented the reporters from hearing him.

Senor Salmeron then said he wished to have included in the official report his declaration throwing the responsibility for all the misfortunes of the country upon the monarchy.

Parliament Is Suspended.

Senor Sagasta at this point rose and read the royal decree suspending parliament.

The chamber of deputies then adjourned and without the customary cheers for the throne.

Dispatches from the Spanish military commander at Santiago deny his forces are inadequate. He says General Linares has twelve battalions of infantry and several batteries of artillery, and he adds that all the strategic positions around the city are strongly occupied. Continuing the dispatch says the Spaniards may fall back before the Americans, "but only until they are out of reach of the ships' guns."

An official dispatch from Havana says the Spanish commander at Siboney was killed during the recent fighting there. Colonel Aldea, it is added, has defeated the insurgents at Fuerte Cabrera.

The Spaniards admit that during the recent bombardment by the American fleet they lost one man killed and had three men wounded. On the other hand, they claim the Spanish shells severely damaged the Indiana's port side, and they say that three shells struck the Texas.

A dispatch from Porto Rico says American cruisers are still visible off San Juan de Porto Rico.

Martial Law Is Proclaimed.

When the cortes closed martial law was proclaimed. The Sagasta cabinet will resign and make way for a new government, which will open negotiations for peace.

Senor Gamazo will be the new premier, with Senor Salvador at the exchequer and possibly two Silvelistas will join the cabinet, which will conclude peace and prepare the way for a Silvela cabinet. There is no doubt that Spain will lose all her colonies.

Admiral Camara's squadron left Cadiz to calm public opinion. Camara well knows that before he arrives at the Philippines peace will be made.

ONE MAN ON THE TEXAS KILLED.

Shell from Spanish Gun Takes One Life and Wounds Eight Seamen.

Playa Del Este, Guantanamo Bay, Thursday, June 23, 3 p. m.—While shelling the batteries of Santiago de Cuba yesterday the battleship Texas was struck by a six-inch shell which passed through her port side, killing F. O. Blakeley, an apprentice, and wounding eight others. The Texas, with a number of troops, was making a feint west of the entrance of Santiago harbor and was shelling the woods.

A Spanish battery on the hill west of the harbor opened on the warship and for three hours there was a lively exchange of shots. The Spaniards shot wild, but the last shell struck the Texas just above the gun deck and exploded. Blakeley, who was standing directly in the path of the shell, was cut all to pieces and eight of his companions wounded at the same time.

The remains of Blakeley were buried at sea off Santiago de Cuba soon after the battle. Of the eight others who were wounded by the shell that killed Blakeley, four have been brought here and placed on the hospital ship, Solace. The other men will remain on the Texas. The battleship was not seriously damaged by the shell.

The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius attacked the Santiago batteries last night, throwing three dynamite shells. It is believed the projectiles did great damage to the entrenchments.

The Texas fought the battle alone, and after its conclusion the officers and men of the battleship were complimented by Rear Admiral Sampson for the excellent work they had performed.

The names of the men wounded on the Texas include the following: J. Simonsen, J. E. Nelson, H. A. Lee, R. Russell, R. C. Engel, G. D. Mullin and J. E. Lively.

MONTEJO EXPECTED DEFEAT.

Spanish Admiral Discusses His Battle with Dewey.

San Francisco, June 24.—The steamer Peru arrived today from Hong Kong and Yohohama, via Honolulu, bringing the following oriental advices:

"It is stated that the Japanese government is about to order a battleship of over 15,000 tons from an English shipbuilder.

"Nagasaki telegrams state the British government has assembled fifteen warships and torpedo boats at Chee Foo.

"A correspondent of The China Mail has interviewed Admiral Montejo, who was defeated by Dewey at Manila. The admiral, who was wounded in the leg during the fight, said:

"'The responsibility of my defeat lies with the government at Madrid. There were no proper vessels here. Ever since I assumed command of the navy stationed here I have been asking the government for ships and torpedoes, but nothing came. I constructed some torpedoes for myself, but we did not have proper material and they were very bad. I knew from the first that my squadron was being completely destroyed. I knew the Americans had men of war, whereas my ships were incapable of fighting with any chance of success.'"

Senate Adopts the Measure as It Comes from Conference.

Washington, June 24.—The senate has agreed to the conference report of the bankruptcy bill.

Three measures designed to facilitate the work of the war department were passed without controversy.

The senate, at 5:20 o'clock, went into executive session, and at 5:50 adjourned.

PORTRAIT SLASHED WITH KNIFE

Painting of Emperor Frederick on a Steamer Is Destroyed.

New York, June 24.—Captain Stoermer, of the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Frederick, discovered that the life-sized portrait of the late Emperor Frederick, on that vessel, now at her pier in Hoboken, N. J., had been slashed with a knife.

The Kaiser Frederick is the latest addition to the fleet of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, and is handsomely fitted up. The picture, an oil portrait, was in the forward end of the reading room in a handsome frame, and was painted at a cost of $18,000.

Last evening visitors were allowed to board the steamer, and hundreds seized the opportunity to inspect the vessel. When all were ordered ashore the picture was in perfect condition.

SEVEN MILES FROM MORRO CASTLE

Army of Invasion Is Closing in Upon Santiago.

SPANIARDS IN FULL RETREAT

General Lawton's Brigade Is in Advance and Is Sweeping Everything.

VOLUNTEERS ARE WITH REGULARS

General Linares, with Twelve Thousand Spanish Soldiers, Beat a Hasty Retreat Before the Americans, Leaving Juragua.

Off Juragua, Province of Santiago de Cuba, Thursday Night, June 23, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, Friday, June 24, 7 a. m.—The advance of the American army has reached the edge of the tableland in which the harbor of Santiago de Cuba lies. Here, seven miles from Morro castle, as the crow flies, the main body of the troops has united and the Spaniards are in full retreat toward Santiago de Cuba.

They may attempt a surprise, but a decisive engagement is not expected for several days.

General Lawton's brigade, which rested last night at Demajayano, four miles west of Baiquiri, resumed its march at daylight. Before noon his brigade, consisting of the Twenty-second infantry, the First infantry, the Second Massachusetts volunteers with companies of the Eighth cavalry, half of the Fourth cavalry and several companies of the Twenty-fifth colored infantry, occupied Juragua, five miles beyond, and the American flag was hoisted there.

Cuban Skirmishers in Advance.

The Spaniards retired before the advance, which was covered by Cuban skirmishers, burning the block houses as they went.

Colonel Wegner with a small reconnoitering party of about forty men brushed against the flank of a retreating Spanish column of 200 strong at Firmezas. A dozen shots were fired by the Spaniards as Colonel Wagner fell back.

Before General Lawton could bring up the Twenty-second, the van regiment, the Spaniards had decamped westward.

Juragua was abandoned by General Linares and 1,200 Spanish troops with such haste that they had no time to burn the town, though an ineffectual effort was made to destroy the locomotives of the railroad and the rolling stock. General Linares retreated to Savilla, six miles west of Juragua by rail and nine miles from Santiago de Cuba.

A detachment of 170 Cubans, under Colonel Aguirra, collided with the Spanish rear guard. The Cubans lost two men killed and had seven men wounded. The Spanish loss is not known. One Spaniard was macheted.

General Chaffee, with the Ninth cavalry, the remainder of the Eighth and Fourth and Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth infantry reached Juragua at dark.

Dynamite Gun Is Sent Forward.

General Bates, with the reserve of the Twentieth infantry and Colonel Wood's rough riders, dismounted, with a dynamite gun, hurried forward from Baiquiri at 3 o'clock, proceeding by forced marches.

When the couriers brought the news that Juragua had been occupied the troopships which had not disembarked their troops, steamed to Juragua with the view of landing them there, but the heavy sea beating on the beach made it impossible to get the boats through the surf. Dispatches of General Linares which have been captured indicated that the Spaniards were ordered to retreat toward Santiago de Cuba. The Cubans expect the first stand to be made at Savilla and they have proved good prophets in the past.

General Lawton's men are badly fagged by forced marches and the intense heat. Their rations are almost exhausted. They started with three days' supplies and further food could not be landed today. But a pack train will be sent forward tomorrow.

Strong outposts are maintained tonight in order to prevent a surprise, and Juragua is also under the protection of the guns of the warships. Thus the flank of the advancing American column is safe. The Spaniards, to attack our troops, must make a forced march through an almost impenetrable undergrowth.

There were only two casualties during the landing of the troops at Baiquiri. Corporal Cobb and Private English, of troop D, Tenth cavalry, colored, fell between a lighter and the pier. Captain O'Neill, of Wood's Rough Riders, plunged into the sea at the risk of his life, but the men were crushed before he reached them. O'Neill was a former mayor of Tucson, Ariz. Several horses and mules were drowned while swimming ashore through the surf. General Garcia's army of 4,000 men is to be conveyed by transports from Aquerderros and, landing at Baiquiri tomorrow, will join the 1,200 men under General Castillo and to co-operate with the American troops. The movement today almost amounts to a change of base.

A brisk musketry fire was heard in the direction of Savilla as the Dauntless left at dark.

Denver, Col., June 24.—The nominating committee tonight agreed upon Mrs. Rebecca B. Lowe, of Georgia, for president and Mrs. Sarah S. Platt, of Denver, for vice president.

son, of Chicago, on "How To Judge a Picture," was followed by numerous five-minute addresses on "Art in the Schools," and the session concluded with a discussion under the leadership of Miss Mary A. Temple of Knoxville, Tenn., and Mrs. Lynde, of Syracuse, N. Y.

At the same hour was held another conference devoted to "The Industrial Problem as It Affects Women and Children," with Miss Claire de Graffenreid, of Washington, D. C., in the chair.

The chief speaker was Miss Sidney Webb, of London, England, who discussed "How To Do Away With the Sweating System." Mrs. Mary Kenny O'Sullivan spoke of "The Union for Industrial Progress."

Mrs. A. P. Stevens, of Chicago, presented statistics on labor legislation for women and children in the United States, the programme concluding with a talk on silk culture by Mrs. Ella E. Lane Bowes, of Chicago.

The evening session, devoted to "Art and Utility," in charge of Mrs. Alice Ives Breed, of Boston, was a special treat. Mrs. Candace Wheeler, of New York, spoke along these lines, followed by "Art and the Municipality," by Mr. Sydney Webb, who is a member of the county council in London, Eng. The climax was a stereopticon lecture on "Art for Women's Clubs," by Miss Annie Caifield, of Grand Rapids, Mich., the talented young woman who has made such a splendid impression on the convention.

In the interims of conferences, receptions and free trolley rides entertained the visitors.

Tomorrow special trains furnished by Denver hostesses will take the club women around the "loop" to Georgetown, where they will be entertained at luncheon.

The state presidents held a meeting tonight and agreed upon the questions of taxation and representation of state federations.

Their conclusions will be presented to the general federation for final action. The agreement was that the taxation of the state federations for the benefit of the general federation shall be 25 cents for each club. The representation for each state federation of 125 clubs or less is to be five delegates, and one delegate for each additional twenty-five clubs.

KILLED A WOMAN WITH A KNIFE

Ex-Policeman in Washington Commits Murder Before a Big Crowd.

Washington, June 24.—In broad daylight and in the presence of a hundred people a murder, fiendish in its atrocity, was committed in one of Washington's public parks this evening.

George W. Horton, an ex-member of the Washington police force, and Jane Nicholson, a divorced woman, were sitting, about 7 o'clock, on a bench in Armory square, at Four-and-a-Half street and Missouri avenue.

The woman announced to Horton that she proposed no longer to sustain her relations with him, when he drew a pocket knife and slashed her across the throat. Her screams attracted scores of people. Horton continued to slash the woman with the knife until she fell to the ground.

Every one of the hundred or more persons who were witnesses of the fearful tragedy was so paralyzed with horror that the murderer proceeded without interference until he had almost severed the head from the body. The cries of the spectators drew the police and Horton was arrested without resistance standing over the body of his victim. At the station house he calmly admitted his deed and expressed little regret.

Fear for the Rice Crop.

Savannah, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—Advices from Satilla and Altamaha rivers say that on account of the fact that there has been no rain to speak of in those sections for the last three months and the chances are that the entire rice crop will be a total loss. Both of those rivers are now salt and the water cannot be used on ther ice fields. The biggest part of the rice crop of this section is grown along those two rivers and unless there is a rain soon the rice planters will lose nearly all they have. The recent rains along the Savannah and Ogeechee rivers have been the salvation of the rice men of the section immediately surrounding Savannah.

Elberton District Conference.

Lavonia, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—The conference of the Elberton district is in session here. Bishop W. W. Duncan, of Spartanburg, is presiding. The reports from the different churches show that great progress is being made. Emory, Wesleyan and other colleges of the Methodist church have their representatives on the grounds and the town is full of delegates and visitors.

There were three other candidates—Fish carries the county unanimously over Gober—not a single vote yet reported for Gober in the county.

To Nominate Representatives.

Dahlonega, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—A convention has been called for the 9th of July to consider the advisability of holding a primary election for the nomination of representative and county officers.

VOLUNTEERS FILL A MOBILE PRISON

Texans, Louisianians and Alabamians Spend Their Pay for Whisky.

THEY MAKE A NIGHT OF IT

Some Companies Had as Few as Seven Men Left in Camp.

THE GUARD MOUNT HALF ATTENDED

Details of Soldiers Are Unable to Round Up the Offenders and Marines Have To Be Called.

Mobile, Ala., June 24.—It was a lively time at Mobile last night and today. Three or four hundred of the Texas, Louisiana and Alabama volunteers just having been paid off, slipped through the camp lines and came to town, where they made a night of it.

At roll call this morning some of the companies did not have more than seven men. At the guard mount, of seventeen hundred men that should have been in line there was not half that number, there being a strong provost guard out searching for the absentees.

All the streets down town were patrolled and men absent without leave were picked up on every corner. Some resisted and the strength of ten men could hardly hold them. Finally the number under arrest became so large that the guard could not hold them, so they were all placed in an old icehouse on Conti and Commerce streets, where they raised such a row that a detail of marines were sent for from the auxiliary cruiser Powhattan, who, under the command of Lieutenant Russell, put the leaders of the disturbance in irons.

Later the prisoners pulled up the brick pavement in the house and discharged bricks through the windows into the crowd of curious citizens standing in the street outside. It is reported that several persons were hurt. Some hundred or more of the prisoners were pretty badly bruised up by fighting among themselves.

One private named John Dumas, of the First Alabama volunteers, thrust his hands through a window pane in the icehouse and severed an artery. Medical attention was given him.

All the afternoon the prisoners were sent out to camp in squads under strong guard, the most badly used up of the men being carried in army wagons, the others walking.

Tonight many men are still dodging the provost guard, but by morning it is thought they all will be returned to camp.

The First Alabama volunteers got away for Miami at 3 o'clock. There was another distribution of luncheon by the ladies of Mobile, which pleased the boys very much. This afternoon at the camp of the Second Alabama volunteers the young women of Mobile presented to the regiment a stand of colors. Miss Amante Semmes, a granddaughter of the late Admiral Raphael Semmes, made the presentation speech. The women of Mobile presented to the same regiment this afternoon a full set of instruments for the band.

W. C. Leslie, of Bonham, a member of the First Texas volunteers, died this afternoon. Typhoid fever was the cause. The remains will be sent to his home.

DEATH OF MAJ. HENRY WINTER.

He Expired Yesterday Afternoon at His Late Residence.

Major Henry Winter, well known in the city and greatly liked by all who knew him, died yesterday afternoon at his late residence near Ingleside. He had reached the age of fifty-eight years and during the greater part of his life resided in this city.

He had been ill for a long time, but was obliged to remain in bed only during the last six weeks of his illness. His demise resulted from consumption. He fought through the civil war with the federal forces and left with the rank of major. He could have remained in the army had he desired, but preferred the life of a civilian and shortly afterwards moved to this city.

He was a printer by trade and was connected with The Constitution for many years. He was well read and kept thoroughly posted on all topics. He is survived by his wife and several children.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence tomorrow morning and the interment will occur in Oakland cemetery. The remains will arrive at the cemetery at 10:30 o'clock over the Georgia road, the train stopping at the cemetery gate, and funeral services will also be conducted there.

MISSING PREACHER FOUND IN TEXAS

Discovery of the Whereabouts of Dr. Lundy H. Harris.

HIS DISAPPEARANCE RECALLED

Had Been a Professor in Emory College for Several Years.

HE LEFT OXFORD VERY MYSTERIOUSLY

A Crazed Man, Reaching Dallas, Tex., Is Identified as the Missing Georgian.

Cedartown, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—The distinguished Georgia educator, Dr. Lundy H. Harris, has been identified in a strange gentleman but recently arrived in Dallas, Tex.

About ten days ago there arrived in Dallas a gentleman of clerical address who refused to give his name and acted in a manner which was altogether strange. He had periods of lucidity when he impressed all who met him with the dignity of his character. Then again all this would change and he would become subject to the wildest paroxysms of grief, wringing his hands and speaking of impossible things.

It developed during this time that he was connected with the Methodist church and this drew to him the kindly attention of a number of gentlemen of that denomination, who kept a watch upon him and did what they could to save him from danger. Their great difficulty was to discover his identity or some means by which his friends might be reached. He had no letters in his pocket nor means by which his previous residence could be ascertained. It was not until he talked in his meandering of his "dear friend, Dr. Lovejoy," that several Methodists who had formerly lived in Georgia recalled the presiding elder in the North Georgia conference and at once opened communication with him.

He Was Dr. Harris.

It did not take long to discover that the unfortunate gentleman was none other than Dr. Lundy H. Harris, the professor of Emory college who had so mysteriously disappeared during the commencement season. Dr. Lovejoy telegraphed that he would start immediately to take possession of Mr. Harris, and instructing that the best of care be taken of him in the meantime.

There can be no doubt but that Dr. Harris's mind is utterly gone and that he is subject of many hallucinations.

WISCONSIN TROOPS GUARDING OSHKOSH

Soldiers Are Called Out To Protect Workmen Against Strikers.

THE MILITIA HAVE CONTROL

Attack Upon the Lumber Company Was Arranged, but Failed.

GATLING GUNS ARE READY FOR WORK

Labor Troubles in the Northwest Have Reached an Accute Stage and May Yet Result Seriously.

Oshkosh, Wis., June 24.—This city is in a fever of excitement. Militia have arrived from Milwaukee and their presence has added to the tension, but it prevented another outbreak.

The strikers had planned an attack on the factory of the Paine Lumber company today, but when they reached the grounds soldiers stood ready to receive them, and the mob faded. The casualties in yesterday's fighting aggregate nine non-union men, more or less disabled. One man, seventy years old, who was at work in a factory, has his arm broken and another is not expected to live.

The only one killed was a striker named James Morris, who was trying to force his way into the McMillen grounds and was struck on the head by an engineer employed in the mill.

The troops here are companies D, G, E, H of the Fourth regiment, the light horse cavalry and a battery of artillery with two gatling guns, all from Milwaukee. They are in command of Brigadier General Boardman, who has opened headquarters at the city hall. He has issued an order to the troops directing them to protect life and property. If necessary they are to fire upon the mob, but not without warning them to desist and get out of the way.

The Paine, McMillen, Radford, Morgan and Williamson factories will start up under protection of the militia.

THE SENATORSHIP IS UP AGAIN

Cobb County Committee Wants To Undo Convention's Work.

PUTS ITSELF INTO OPPOSITION

Declares It Will Not Abide by the Result Reached.

AND DECAPITATES THE DELEGATES

Singular Action of the Executive Committee in Putting Up Mr. Mozley to Fight Convention's Action.

Marietta, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—The action of the county democratic executive committee of Cobb, this day taken, in regard to the state senatorial complication, introduces new elements of confusion.

The ultimatum of the Cobb county executive committee reduced to its last analysis is, that not only is Cobb county entitled to the senatorship, but that under no circumstances have the people of the other two counties any right or privilege to suggest, to amend, or to take any other action than to vote blindly for the one man whom this county may put forth.

The Resolutions Adopted.

After the executive committee, which had met for the purpose of consolidating the vote on the supreme court judgeship, had performed that work, it took up the action of the late senatorial district convention and passed the following resolution:

"We, the democratic executive committee of Cobb county, this day assembled for the purpose of consolidating the democratic vote for judges of the supreme court, resolve as follows:

"Be it remembered that it is Cobb's time to present the senator for the thirty-fifth senatorial district, and Hon. J. E. Mozley having on the 6th day of June received the unanimous vote of Cobb county for senator of said district; and this committee having thereafter assembled and consolidated said vote, declared said Mozley the nominee of the democratic party of Cobb county, and having elected a delegation to go to the senatorial convention for the purpose of nominating a senator for said district, and instructed said delegation to adopt the unit rule and vote for said Mozley, first, last and all the time for senator of said district; and

"Whereas, After said delegation accepted said instructions, two of them, to-wit: Messrs. E. P. Dobbs and E. W. Glover, after having voted for said Mozley a number of times, finally cast their votes with Fulton county delegation for Hon. R. T. Nesbitt, therefore causing his nomination, and

"Whereas, The executive committee this date assembled repudiate the action of the majority of said convention, and do declare the Hon. J. E. Mozley to be the true and legal nominee for senator for the thirty-fifth senatorial district, and

"Whereas, The Hon. R. T. Nesbitt has not yet accepted the nomination of said convention,

"We most respectfully request and appeal to him in the interest of the democratic party not to accept said nomination and repudiate the action of said convention, and knowing him as we do, we believe that he will not accept same.

"It is further resolved by this committee that in the event that Hon. R. T. Nesbitt does not accept the nomination and if a convention shall be again called to nominate a senator we, the executive committee, this day assembled hereby empower and authorize the Hon. J. E. Mozley to select at his own choice and will four delegates to said convention and we instruct them to vote for Hon. J. E. Mozley first, last and all the time as a unit for senator of the thirty-first district, and we further instruct them to make no compromise whatever on any other candidate from either Cobb, Fulton or Clayton counties."

The Action Analyzed.

This action of the committee has been the subject of much discussion during the afternoon. Without going into the statement of facts which it makes, the policy to which it points of running a candidate of its own, regardless of the approval of the other two counties, is very dangerous, leading, as it must, to independentism and threatening the organization of the party. It was pointed out by one gentleman that Cobb county, having gone into the convention, and its delegates having acted in that body, and their votes having helped to make up the nominating majority, every democrat must be bound. While in the event of further trouble that convention might be reassembled for the purpose of reconsidering its vote, yet the action of the Cobb county executive committee smashes up the personnel of that convention, and introduces into it entirely new men, who are not named by the people of the county, but are simply there to register the will of only one man in the county and that man a candidate for the office at stake.

An Indignity to the Delegates.

This doubtful policy has been freely spoken of as imprudent, but further than this there is a deeper question, looking at the local aspect of the case. The action of the committee would brand Messrs. Dobbs and Glover with infidelity to the trust which was reposed in them, and visits upon them the severe capital penalty of decapitation. This assault upon the motives and the integrity of two such well-known and patriotic citizens is in the highest sense regretted. Messrs. Dobbs and Glover are gentlemen of the highest character and integrity, faithful to their community, true to their county and well known throughout the entire state as Georgians whose names have never been tainted. These gentlemen went through the senatorial convention with three duties in view.

The first was to assist in the nomination of a democratic candidate for the thirty-fifth senatorial district.

The second was to claim the right of nomination, under the rotation rule, for Cobb county's delegation.

The third was the presentation of the name of Hon. J. E. Mozley as such candidate.

How the Trust Was Fulfilled.

They held their highest duty to be the nomination itself. That was a duty transcending all others, and upholding democracy. They claimed, under their second instructions, that Cobb county should name the man, and this claim was not disputed upon the floor of the convention. When the third and merely individual part of the contest came up, that there was only one man in Cobb county fit to be senator, there came up a prolonged deadlock. Nevertheless Messrs. Dobbs and Glover stood by this merely personal part of their duty until over 3,000 ballots had been cast, until it became evident that the claims of mere personalism were about to interfere with the privilege of Cobb county, and to endanger the cause of democracy. When this extreme limit had been reached, when they had stood by Mr. Mozley until the sacrifice of democracy itself was imminent, they felt that they had a higher duty to perform than sinking with one man. The name of Hon. R. T. Nesbitt, a distinguished and honored citizen of Cobb county, having been presented, he being a democrat of tried character and principle, Messrs. Dobbs and Glover felt that in accepting him they were not only doing their duty to democracy by giving it a candidate, but to Cobb county as well, by securing the candidacy for one of her own citizens.

Independentism Is Threatened.

The action of the Cobb county committee, therefore, introduces independentism into the district. By interfering with the membership of the district convention it breaks up that body, because if it is recalled in meeting it must consist of its original members, unless they voluntarily get out of the way, and it bids defiance to the action of organized democracy. The friends of Messrs. Glover and Dobbs certainly feel grieved at the action of the committee in summarily reading them out of the district convention.

There is a good deal of talk about the rotation rule. When the principle of rotation was introduced into the selection of state senators it was hardly intended that in every election the voters of two counties should be completely disfranchised. The idea was that the residence of the senator should alternate, but it was never dreamed for a moment that one county should insist upon the sole right of naming the man, thus forcing the other two counties to become mere dummies upon the political stage. Machine politics had a good deal to do with bringing about that change in some sections of the state, which looked at the disfranchisement of the counties which did not have the right to present a candidate from among their own number. It was, in fact, the resort of a small man who, knowing that he could not carry the district, felt that he might be able to carry the narrower precinct of one county and thus force himself upon the other partners to the district convention. Viewed in this light there are many who think that the present status is one which will have beneficial results. It will, while allowing the candidacy for the senate to rotate between the counties, nevertheless compel that candidate to be a man strong enough and big enough to appeal to the whole district, instead of to one county.

Colonel R. T. Nesbitt, the regular nominee of the democratic district convention, is receiving many appeals urging him to hold aloft the banner of the party. It is pointed out that since democracy has placed the duty upon his shoulders he cannot surrender the fight to party irregularity or to independentism. What he will do remains to be seen, but it is hard to see any other duty than acceptance open to him.

STAHLMAN WAS SAUCY TO SENATORS

Told Them He Had Deceived Them and Got His Fee.

LAUGHED IN THEIR FACES

In Fact, Told the Senators It Was None of Their Business.

CHURCH EXONERATED IN THE MATTER

Examination of Barbee Was Read and Showed That He Knew of the Contract with Stahlman.

Washington, June 24.—(Special.)—Major Stahlman acknowledges the soft impeachment, and with a smile as bland as ever lit up the features of Boss Tweed, asks the senate: "What are you going to do about it?" The major has his $100,000 in his inside pocket. He told the senate committee on claims so today. He acknowledged that he had deceived, and had meant to deceive, and he thought it was none of the senators' business.

As for Messrs. Barbee & Smith, they were inclined to be more evasive and tried to hide behind technicalities in the wording of telegrams.

The committee will bring in a report which is a scathing criticism of all three of the gentlemen. It will, however, exonerate the church, as a whole, from any part in the deceit practiced upon the senate in connection with that $288,000 claim.

The committee on claims, of which Senator Teller is chairman, devoted the day to an investigation of the charge that Messrs. Barbee, Smith and Stahlman, of Nashville, had deliberately deceived the senators, and especially this committee, when the bill in which they were interested was before it. The sessions of the committee were behind closed doors and the details of what occurred are kept from the public. But it is known that the report, when made, will strongly condemn Barbee, Smith and Stahlman, though at the same time showing that the other officials of the church are blameless.

The three gentlemen were examined by the committee and each was put through a rigid cross-examination in which all of the members of the committee took part. Rev. Dr. Barbee, who, it will be recollected, had, when the bill was before the senate and the question whether there was any lobby fee in it had been raised, telegraphed Senator Bate and other senators, authorizing them to give denial to the report, was put through a most searching examination, which showed up the whole transaction. This man is a minister and has always stood high in the councils of the church. He acknowledged today that at the time he sent that telegram there was a contract between the book company and Stahlman, and the only defense he attempted to make was that the contract did not call for 40 per cent, as was suggested by the telegram Senator Bate sent, but was for another amount. He squared his conscience by this technical evasion. The examination of Major Stahlman was perhaps the most interesting part of the committee's work. The major's activity in favor of this bill caused suspicion, but he explained it by saying that his wife was an ardent worker for the church and he was interested for her sake. All the time he had in his inside pocket a contract by which, in return for securing the passage of the bill, he was to receive something over $100,000. He admitted this today. He admitted having wilfully deceived the senators who questioned him on the subject. He claimed that he had not told a deliberate lie, however, as the questions asked him were whether he had a contract with these book agents, while as a matter of fact his contract was with the book committee. He claimed that all this was his own business and that it was a matter with which the senators had nothing to do.

The committee has not completed its report as yet, but members of it state that it will show the facts to be particularly black so far as Barbee & Smith are concerned. They were recognized as ministers acting for the church and yet intentionally and wilfully deceived. The same report will be made with regard to Major Stahlman. Of course this is bound to lead to action on the part of the church. Whether, as has been urged, the money in hand will be returned to the treasury of the United States and an effort made to get Major Stahlman to refund what has been paid him is a matter for the future to develop. It seems to be up to the church.

Woman Wielded the Ax.

Rome, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—Carrie Milner split open Henry McDow's head with an ax at an early hour this morning. Both parties are colored.

The Milner woman is McDow's sister-in-law and lived in the same house with him. Thursday night they quarreled and the woman left the house. About 3 o'clock this morning she returned and cut McDow's head open while he lay in the bed asleep. The woman was run to earth with a bloodhound and is in jail.

FRUIT GROWERS HAVE ADJOURNED

Nearly All of the Delegates Have Left Macon for Their Homes.

THE RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

In Regard to Central Railroad's Contract with Armour Company.

SEVERELY CRITICIZE THE RAILROAD COMPANY

Appointment of Committee to Select Man to Represent Georgia Fruit Growers in Chicago.

Constitution Bureau, Brown House, Macon, Ga., June 24.—The convention of fruit growers, which has been in session in Macon has adjourned and all the growers have left the city except two or three. The object of this convention was to protest against the position of the Central railroad in making an exclusive contract for refrigerator cars with the Armour Packing Company. The fruit men were quite severe in their criticism of the Central railroad. The principal speakers were President John D. Cunningham, Colonel John M. Stubbs and Colonel Marshall J. Hatcher.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, the Central railroad has entered into an exclusive contract with the Armour car line and proposes to force the routing of our fruit shipments, and,

"Whereas, after repeated and persistent effort, we have been unable to get the authorities of the Central railroad to meet us and discuss the vital questions at issue; be it,

"Resolved, That a standing committee of three be appointed and given plenary powers to act for the Georgia fruit growers on all questions of transportation. We appeal to every fruit grower of the state not to allow themselves to be influenced by the misrepresentations of the employees of any railroad or refrigerating companies as to their legal and moral right to use any refrigerator car they may desire and to route their shipments over any line they deem best. We understand that representations are made as to the inability of any other company except the Armour line to furnish the growers with cars or ice. After careful investigation, we find that at least the California Fruit Transportation Company is fully prepared to furnish you both cars and ice upon your direct order. Should the Central or any other railway refuse to handle any cars you may select or route your shipment as you direct, we urge that you at once notify said committee, who, with your backing, will institute the proper legal proceedings necessary to defeat this monstrous and illegal effort to extort thousands of dollars of your money by defeating competition.

"So far as freight rates are concerned, we regret to say that we have been unable to get a hearing before the rate committee of the Southeastern Freight Association before the 12th of July, and that in our opinion the railroads are fully determined to enforce the present exorbitant rates, regardless of whether the fruit industry of Georgia is crushed or not. We recommend that said transportation committee prepare and submit to the railroads interested a written argument setting forth the grounds of our request for a reduction of freight rates, and that said argument be also given to the press."

To Represent Growers.

The following resolution was also adotped:

"Resolved, That Dudley M. Hughes, John F. Dennis and John M. Stubbs be appointed a committee to select and employ a competent, reliable man of recognized ability and standing, whose duty it shall be to represent the interests of Georgia fruit growers at the general offices of the American Fruit Growers' Union, at Chicago, during the present shipping season. We hereby pledge ourselves to pay to the American Fruit Growers' Union the sum of $2 on each and every car of fruit we may sell at shipping point or handled otherwise than through the union, said payments to be made weekly."

It is understood that the position of Chicago agent has been tendered to Mr. Frank, a well-known Macon broker.

Just before adjournment it was reported that the Central of Georgia had agreed to allow any refrigerator car to be sent to any point on their line, provided the applicant will pay the mileage allowed by the railroad commission on empty cars, and also to pay the charges on the ice. It is claimed that other than the Armour people will furnish cars at ten to fifteen dollars less than the Armour people charge for their cars.

Bibb for Fish.

The democratic executive committee of Bibb county met today and consolidated the vote in yesterday's primary for judges of the supreme court, with the following result: Simmons, 758; Fish, 625; Gober, 154; Lewis, 773. A very light vote was cast.

The following delegates were appointed to the judge's convention, all friends of Judge Fish: Messrs. Washington Dessau, A. L. Miller, Dupont Guerry, C. H. Hall, Charles Wachtel and N. E. Harris.

There is $300 in the treasury of the committee, an unexpended balance from the assessments paid by candidates in the primaries on June 6th for county offices, legislators and delegates to the gubernatorial convention. The committee today decided to return this balance to the candidates, prorating the payments by the amount paid in by candidates.

The entire bar of Macon, with the exception of three or four, were for Fish. A number of lawyers staid at the polls all day working for Fish, and some went from store to store advocating Fish and distributing his tickets.

Teachers' Meeting.

Considerable interest is manifested here in the city in the next meeting of the Georgia Teachers' Association at Indian Spring. The educational topics for discussion are important and vital ones. The place of meeting is an ideal one. The splendid orchestra of the Wigwam will furnish music for the session of the Georgia Teachers' Association. The railroads in the state will sell tickets at one fare for the round trip on the 27th, 28th and 29th. The session of the association will be from the 29th of June to the 2d of July. The hotel rates at the Wigwam will be $1.50 a day.

Candler Can't Come.

Hon. Allen D. Candler was invited by the Macon Public Library Association to present in behalf of the city of Macon a beautiful regimental flag to Colonel Ray's regiment of immunes on July 4th at Camp Price, but Colonel Candler has written it will be impossible for him to be here on the date named and perform the service, as he has accepted an invitation to make a democratic speech on July 5th at a point some distance from a railroad and he would not have the opportunity and time to fulfill both engagements. It is not known who the library will now invite to make the presentation speech.

Newsy Notes.

Arrangements have been made for the holding of religious services at Camp Price for the benefit of the immunes.

Will Birdsong was fined $25 or thirty days on the chaingang by the recorder today for cruelty to his mule, which he beat severely.

Hon. Dudley Hughes will give a barbecue tomorrow at his home in Danville complimentary to his friends and the Masons, who will celebrate there.

More than 100 children were enrolled today for the grand chorus to be sung at the celebration exercises on July 4th at the time of the presentation of the flag to Colonel Ray's regiment. The chorus will sing "America" and "Dixie."

This morning at 7 o'clock Annie Hunt, a negro woman, went from her home to do some service and left her ten-months-old baby at home in care of two children. When she returned at noon she found the baby on the bed dead and the two children in whose care the baby was left were absent. The coroner will investigate the case.

Spend Sunday at Lithia Springs, Ga.

On the Southern railway; 60 cents for the round trip. Tickets on sale for trains leaving Atlanta Saturday afternoons and evenings and Sunday mornings, limited to return Monday following date of sale.

AMERICAN DERBY WILL BE RUN TODAY

Washington Park, Chicago's Great Track Is To Open Again.

GOOD HORSES ARE TO START

Purse of $10,000 Will Be the Added Money for the Winner.

SCRATCHES WERE NUMEROUS LAST NIGHT

Lieber Karl Nor Plaudit Will Start, but Pink Coat Will Run with 20 Pounds More Than at St. Louis.

Chicago, June 24.—Washington park will open tomorrow for a twenty-five days' running meeting, the first since the summer of 1894, when the agitation against races made all of the Chicago tracks close their gates.

As usual the special feature will be the American derby with $10,000 added money.

The race, while lacking the high quality that has characterized it in former years, is an open one and will undoubtedly bring out a close contest. There are nine probable starters.

Plaudit and Lieber Karl, the peers of any three-year-olds shown in the west, will not start, the former having been shipped to New York to train for the Realization, while the latter is lame.

Of those left Mirthful, the Morris candidate, will be the most fancied. Pink Coat, who won the St. Louis derby last Saturday, beating Plaudit, is also well thought of, but he will carry twenty pounds more than he did a week ago. The others are closely bunched by handicappers, almost any one of them having a chance to beat out the favored ones.

The entries follow:

Pingree, 122, Clawson; Bannock Burn, 122, Thorpe; Mirthful, 122, Littlefield; Midian, 122, H. Martin; Ed Ferrell, 122, Snell; Isabay, 122, Knapp; Traverser, 125, H. Shields; Pink Coat, 127, and Warrenton, 122, Caywood.

Borgia and Trembone, doubtful starters up to last night, have been declared out. It is just possible that Traverser may not start. Indications are for clear weather and fast track. The future bookings have been very light.

Chance to See the Race.

Both the American derby and Washington park and the great trial stakes at Sheepshead will be presented Atlantians this afternoon at the exchange. Jean Beard has been selected to win at Sheepshead, while Mirthful and Pink Coat are backed for the Chicago money.

FREE LUNCH WILL REMAIN

Liquor Dealers Say They Would Not Part with the Feature.

JOKE PLAYED ON THE TIMID

President Vernoy, of the Association of Retail Liquor Dealers, Denies the Story.

The free lunch feature of Atlanta bars will not be interfered with by the war tax that has recently been put on beer and whisky. The announcement that the Association of Retail Liquor Dealers was considering whether or not to abolish free lunch on the counters of the bars created consternation among the many who depend for their dinners upon a glass of beer and what they can hide away while the foam is settling.

The situation that presented itself was a serious one and kicks were heard in all directions against the passage of such a thoughtless act.

Hundreds thrive on free lunch day by day and the supposed occupation of the retail liquor dealers of trying to do away with the meal brought forth howls from the hungry contingent. The war with Spain might be abandoned if it curtailed their dinner and the rumor gained ground among the more rebellious that the government was trying to persecute them, together with the Spaniards.

Although the meeting of the liquor dealers is secret, it is known that the matter of doing away with free lunch has never been seriously considered, and it is supposed that the information to that effect came from some mischievous party, who thought he would have some fun with the habitues of the lunch counter.

Mr. W. A. Vernoy, president of the association, said yesterday:

"The proposition to do away with this feature of our business has never been considered by the association. Our organization is a secret one, as much so as the Masons or the Odd Fellows, and what goes on at its meetings cannot be made known to the public. I am willing to say in order to correct a wrong impression that we would not think for a moment of taking away the free lunch. The question has never been considered, and will not be."

RED HOT GAME SCHEDULED TODAY

Merchants and Southern Shops Teams Meet at Brisbine.

IT WILL BE A BATTLE ROYAL

Former Have Never Yet Been Defeated This Season.

BUT THE SOUTHERN SHOPS ARE STRONG

Game This Afternoon Promises To Be the Best That the League Has Yet Offered.

THE baseball fans are looking forward to some rare sport this afternoon when the Merchants and the Southern Shops teams come together at Brisbine park. These two teams are now in the lead in the race for the pennant and as they are the two best clubs in the league the game gives promise of being one of the best of the season.

Despite the fact that both teams were already very strong it is understood that they have both secured new players for the contest this afternoon with a view to strengthening up. So far the Merchants have not been defeated, but the boys from the Southern shops are confident that they can stop the Merchants this afternoon. The Merchants are equally confident that they can win the game and it is going to be a hot one.

When the city league was first formed the directors thought that it could be a success, but it has now passed beyond their most sanguine hopes and the interest that it being taken in it has not been equaled here since the days of the original southern league. It is the only thing that has succeeded in drawing the attention of the male portion of Atlanta from the war. While the feeling is very intense between the clubs in the league so far, it has been good natured and no bad feeling has sprung up. The two teams that are to meet this afternoon have not come together yet, but they are said to have it in for each other. If the Southern Shops should win they will be tied with the Merchants for first place, but in case they do not, it will simply put the Merchants farther in the lead. The rooters will be out in force this afternoon and owing to the fact that people want to see things evened up a bit it is quite probable that the majority of the rooters will be for the shop boys.

The game this afternoon will not be played for the benefit of the Atlanta Relief Association, as was first proposed, and there will, therefore, be no change in the regular prices. The admission at the gate will be 10 cents and the same at the grand stand. Ladies and children are always admitted free and the directors assure the ladies that they will be shown every attention. The directors want the ladies to patronize the games and they will do everything to make them enjoy themselves. The game will be called this afternoon at 4 o'clock and the prospects are that the largest crowd ever inside of Brisbine park will be out.

MR. FARLINGER'S NEW STORE OPENED

Several Thousand People Attended His Reception Yesterday.

THE BUILDING IS ELEGANT

The Flats Are Furnished with the Latest Conveniences.

THE EFFECT IN THE STORE IS PLEASING

Wurm's Orchestra Was Present at the Opening and Discoursed Pleasing Music for the Guests.

One of the most magnificent stores in the world was opened yesterday afternoon by Mr. A. W. Farlinger at 321 Peachtree street. The formal opening began at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and lasted until 10 o'clock last night. During these hours thousands of people went through the store, and only exclamations of gratified surprise were heard.

The goods were displayed in a splendid manner by departments on shelves and pyramids and through plate-glass cases. The tea and coffee department is a marvel of beauty. The canisters are of Brewster green, with gold-plated imperial wreaths on the outside with the letter "F" in the center.

Mr. Farlinger has a new stock of choice goods in, and proved that he is no novice in his business by displaying them to the best advantage. Mr. Farlinger is one of the most popular grocers in the city, and has been serving the best trade of the city for some time.

His private desk and the bookkeeper's department are furnished in regular bank style, and the fixtures add greatly to the beauty of the store. Wurm's orchestra was present at the opening and discoursed choice music during the entire evening. The new building, known as Farlinger's flats, is one of the handsomest in the city, and is a great attraction on Peachtree street.

It is a four-story brick building, trimmed in rough hewn granite, and is surrounded by a pretty balcony on the second floor. The entire appearance of the building is very pleasing, and it is most pretty to look at. Spacious bay windows are in the building, and add greatly to the general appearance of beauty.

The flats are beautifully furnished with Brussels carpets, lace curtains, frescoed ceilings and wainscoting of marble. A bathroom is attached to every flat, and if there is anything lacking in either the furnishings or makeup of the entire flat, it would be hard to find.

Elevators of the very latest patent carry passengers to each floor. An airy, elegantly furnished restaurant is on the top floor, where excellent meals are served at a nominal price. This restaurant is destined to become very popular with the fashionable set on Peachtree street, as is attested by the crowds which flocked there last night.

Entering the broad doorway of the grocery store one is confronted by a succession of glass cases framed in oak, the whole forming a perfect square. All kinds of fine goods fill these cases, and one is given the impression at once that any order given Mr. Farlinger can be filled by him without delay from his own stock.

The ladies' reception room, to the left of the entrance, is most beautifully furnished with Brussels carpets, chairs and divans of polished oak, while a magnificent piano is in the rear, on which the ladies are invited to play at any time.

Mr. Farlinger himself was in the store last night receiving his guests, and he was heartily congratulated upon the success of his undertaking. The building he has erected is a credit to himself and an ornament to the section of the city in which it is located.

COMMISSIONERS MEET TODAY

Will Open Bids for Furnishing Jail Electric Machinery and May Discuss Other Matters.

A special session of the Fulton county commissioners will be held this afternoon to open bids for furnishing the electric machinery for the electric lighting plant of the new jail.

The bids have been advertised for and it is understood that a number of manufacturers and agents will present bids to the board this morning to be opened at the meeting this afternoon. The machinery for the plant will be quite large, as a complete equipment will be put in at a cost of about $5,000.

There are a number of other matters that are pending before the commissioners. Consideration of the new annex to be added to the courthouse as a part expenditure of the $60,000 courthouse money may be had, and also the insolvent costs question, which at the last meeting it was decided to hold an extra session for the discussion of.

JUDGE J. K. HINES FOR CONGRESS

Populists Nominate Their Former Leader To Oppose Col. Livingston.

NOT KNOWN IF HE TAKES IT

He Has Positively Refused All Nominations Since His 1994 Campaign.

VERY LIGHT VOTE ON THURSDAY

The People Did Not Turn Out—Popunations Since His 1894 Campaign. Candidates by Correspondence.

THE populists of this district have nominated Judge J. K. Hines for congress to oppose Colonel L. F. Livingston. The nomination was made very quietly on Thursday by the congressional district convention of the people's party.

Whether Judge Hines will accept was not learned yesterday, but the populists who were seen seemed to think that he would. Judge Hines, however, refused to be a candidate for governor, although he could have had the nomination. He was urged to run, but would not consider the offer. He has positively declined to be a candidate for anything since his defeat for governor in 1894. Judge Hines was in the city yesterday, but he left early in the afternoon.

Colonel Livingston has had opposition from the populists every time he ran since the party was organized, and he has always defeated their candidate by large majorities.

The Judiciary Election.

The result of the election for supreme court judges was an interesting topic among the politicians yesterday.

One of the statehouse officials remarked that although the people had voted for the constitutional amendment to elect the judges of the supreme court by popular vote, they did not seem to take a very deep interest in the election. It is estimated that not more than 30,000 votes were cast in Thursday's primaries. In the primaries for governor, June 6th, more than 90,000 democratic votes were cast in Georgia.

Hancock county reported yesterday that it went for Judge Gober by five majority.

Judge Fish got about 210 delegates to the convention to 140 for Judge Gober.

The members of the populist state executive committee are voting by correspondence on a supreme court ticket. It was stated yesterday that they will not indorse the democratic justices, but will put up a ticket of their own.

Seeking Commissions.

The friends of Ben H. Brock, of Dade county, and of Bob Bates, of Murray, were using influence yesterday to secure them appointments from the governor for positions of first and second lieutenants respectively. The chances seemed very good for them, too.

Solicitor General Bob Lewis, of Hancock, came up yesterday. He had been on a fish and was as tanned as a recruit.

Judge A. W. Fite came down yesterday from Cartersville. The judge is a terror to blind tigers and if he gets a go at the rough element around Camp Thomas there will be new faces in the chaingang or the penitentiary and maybe both places.

Mr. Will Hardwick, of Washington, Wilkes county, recently nominated for the legislature from his county, has been up here this week in the interest of a friend for a commission in the new regiment. Mr. Hardwick was offered a commission himself while here.

FUNERAL OF PROF. WILSON

Remains Were Interred Yesterday in Oakland Cemetery—The Floral Decorations Were Beautiful.

The funeral of Professor A. N. Wilson, whose sudden death occurred Wednesday, was conducted from the late residence of the deceased, 153 Highland avenue, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Rev. E. H. Barnett, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, read the service, which was a short and appropriate one, and the choir of the church led in singing a number of hymns.

Many beautiful designs were sent to the home during the morning and the casket was laden with the tributes from the friends of Professor Wilson all over the state.

The ante-bellum scholars of the deceased residing in the city were present in a body and a delegation from the number acted as pallbearers.

Dr. Barnett spoke of the life and character of the deceased, whom he had known for a number of years as a member of the First Presbyterian church, where he had always taken an active interest in the work of the church and Sunday school.

The interment was made at Oakland by the side of his wife who preceded him to the grave only a few weeks.

The following delegation from the Pioneer Society, of which Professor Wilson was a member, acted as an honorary escort:

Messrs. C. W. Hunnicutt, W. P. Inman, Frank T. Ryan, J. C. Hendrix, Anthony Murphy, W. L. Calhoun, B. F. Walker, W. A. Fuller, R. J. Lowry and W. H. Hulsey.

The following prominent citizens acted as pallbearers:

C. A. Collier, Judge W. R. Hammond, Judge A. L. Kontz, J. M. Alexander, C. K. Maddox and J. T. Glenn.

JAILER MILLER'S BOUQUET.

He Brings in Some Cotton Blooms from His DeKalb Farm.

Yesterday afternoon Assistant Jailer Miller visited his farm in DeKalb county and when he returned to the city he had with him a large bouquet of flowers, of which he was immensely proud.

The flowers were cotton blooms and the assistant jailer claims that they are the first in this section of the country. He believes he will be the first cotton bale man north of Macon.

NO HEARING NOW FOR FLANAGAN

Prison Commission Declines To Take Up His Application.

HIS CASE IS STILL IN COURT

While He Has Legal Rights Left He Cannot Get Commutation.

BOARD WILL NOT INTERFERE NOW

If He Is Unable To Get a New Trial, the Commission Will Listen to a Plea in His Behalf.

THE prison commission declines to hear any application for clemency until the applicant has exhausted all his legal rights.

This precedent was announced yesterday when the commission declined to hear argument for a commutation of the sentence of Edward C. Flanagan. A motion is now pending before Judge Candler asking for a commutation of sentence from death to imprisonment for life. The prison board says that Flanagan may be able to get another trial, and it does not propose to hear his petition until there are no further steps to be taken in the courts.

Flanagan had been sentenced to hang yesterday, but the motion for a new trial got him a stay. Mr. Dan Rountree and Mr George Spence appeared before the prison board and asked that body to hear argument on the application for a commutation.

At the very outset Judge Turner stated that the board was not disposed to hear the case. Mr. Rountree requested an opportunity to urge upon the commission some reasons why it should hear argument. He went on to say that the case had been tried three times and that Flanagan had been convicted of murder each time, but twice he had been granted new trials. The counsel recognized that it was a hard proposition to undertake to prove to a jury that paranoia is sufficient excuse to warrant a verdict of acquittal or anything less than murder in this case.

The judge who heard the case is a firm and impartial officer, said Mr. Rountree. He has given the criminal courts an administration which has attracted attention to him all over the state. This judge could not do anything under the law but sentence the defendant to death on every conviction, but now Judge Candler says that he believes Flanagan's mind is afflicted with a disease which should exempt him from capital punishment at this time. If another conviction follows the effort to get a new trial, the pardon board must hear from Flanagan and pronounce him insane and irresponsible now, if not at the time of the double tragedy. The case will keep oscillating from court to court until commutation is granted, because the courts realize that the man is not sufficiently clear in mind to send to the gallows.

Mr. Spence, who has been associated in this case from its inception, stated that there is no question about Flanagan's irresponsibility. He asked the commission to take up the case and examine it even casually, promising that convincing proof would be found of Flanagan's irresponsible mental condition.

The prisoner's whole life bears evidence of mental disease, said his counsel. He inherited the taint. His mother was insane before he was born. A sister went insane when she was fourteen years old. There were other instances in the family. Flanagan himself was degenerate. His letters showed the progress which the disease had made and his conversation and conduct for months prior to the tragedies left no doubt about his condition.

After hearing from both the attorneys, the commission unanimously decided not to hear argument for a commutation of sentence so long as a trial or motion for a new trial was pending. In making the announcement Judge J. S. Turner, chairman of the commission, said:

"It appears from the record in this case that the defendant has filed a motion for a new trial, which is still pending and undetermined, and it is stated that in the event commutation is recommended the motion will be dismissed.

"The prison commission declines to consider this application upon its merits, and will neither recommend nor refuse to recommend clemency as long as the sentence of the court is being held in abeyance by legal process. When the defendant has exhausted his legal rights before the courts and there has been a final judicial determination of his case, upon proper presentation his claims to executive clemency will be considered."

General C. A. Evans and Mr. Beach concurred fully in this decision. Afterwards it was stated that if the commission should set a precedent of opening cases while they are yet pending in the courts they would be constantly applied to. There is no legal reason why the commission should not hear an application for pardon or commutation, it seems, but it would not be good practice to begin to do it, the commissioners say.

THE COMMITTEE TO BE NAMED.

Shelton Claim Will Soon Be Satisfactorily Adjusted.

The Shelton claim against the city for alleged damages on account of the erection of the Mitchell street viaduct will probably reach a satisfactory adjustment in the next few days.

The agreement is that a committee shall be appointed to investigate the matter to ascertain if Mr. Shelton will be damaged by the bridge, and if so, how much. This committee will consist of three members, one to be appointed by the mayor this morning, another by Mr. Shelton and the two committeemen appointed to select the third.

The committee will be appointed during the day and will bring in its decision tomorrow or next day. This will remove the last obstacle in the way of the viaduct and will be a satisfactory settlement of the affair to all parties concerned.

THE CITY SOLONS HAVE WARM TIME

Liveliest Session of the Year Held at City Hall Last Night.

FLAG MEASURE WAS DEBATED

Alderman Rice Invites Mr. Lumpkin To Put Him Out.

APPEAL FROM DECISION OF THE CHAIR

Councilmen Have a Scrap While a Band Near By Plays "Hot Time." The Tax Ordinance.

WHEN City Clerk Greene called council to order last night a brass band around the corner was playing "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." The band was right. Notwithstanding the object of the meeting was for the quiet consideration of the tax ordinance, the solons had on their fighting clothes and held probably the warmest session of the year.

The principals were Mayor Pro Tem. Dimmock, Alderman Rice, Councilmen Lumpkin and Thomson. It was virtually another outburst of the fight that has been going on for months between council and the aldermanic board. The council won. The chairman's decision was appealed from and the appeal sustained for the first time this year. It all grew out of a resolution offered by Alderman Woodward to drape the city hall, police station and fire engine houses with American flags. The legislators met at 8 o'clock, wrangled until 10:30, then got down to business and finished the tax ordinance by midnight, after having made several important changes in the tax ordinance.

Some weeks ago council appropriated $500 for placing flags on public schools. Last night Alderman Woodward introduced a resolution in the shape of an amendment that the municipal buildings be made to put on a patriotic air also. Mr. Thomson seriously objected.

"I think this is carrying this patriotism business too far," said he. "There is something more important for us to do than to string our buildings with bunting. The money we have taken from the teachers should not be spent in any such manner. If the people want to display patriotism they can do it in other ways."

Mr. Lumpkin's Hit at Aldermen.

The chairman was about to call for a vote on the resolution from the general council when Mr. Lumpkin made the point the matter was for council only. Aldermen Woodward and Rice insisted that the aldermen had the right to vote, but Mr. Lumpkin's point was well taken and the vote was about to be put again when Alderman Woodward called for the yeas and nays. This requires every man's vote to go on record, Mr. Lumpkin jumped to his feet in an instant.

"The aldermen have not any right," said he, "to call for the yeas and nays on matters in which council only is voting. We should regulate that ourselves. They have nothing to do with it. This is a trick they have tried before and we have stood it just about as long as we are going to."

"Then I suppose you want us to retire," interrupted Mr. Rice, hotly.

"I don't object," was the emphatic reply.

"Well we are going to sit right here until you show us your authority to move us," said Mr. Rice, while the chairman's gavel pounded until it brought temporary silence.

The chair ruled that any member of the general council had a right to call for yeas and nays at any time on all matters. He stated he made this ruling on precedent and the city charter. Mr. Lumpkin started to call his attention to the manual, but Mr. Dimmock replied that the manual had never been adopted, and therefore had no bearing in the case.

"You have the right to appeal from the decision of the chair," said he, "but that is my ruling."

Decision Is Appealed From.

"To whom have we to appeal?" asked Mr. Thomson.

"The general council," replied the chairman.

"What good would that do when the 'general council' means the aldermanic board?"

"I would like to remind you, Mr. Thomson, that the councilmen are in the majority in this body," said Mr. Dimmock.

"Well, then, I appeal from the decision of the chair," stated Mr. Thomson, taking his seat.

The vote on the appeal was then taken and Chairman Dimmock's decision was overruled. "I just wish to state," said Mr. Dimmock, "that I have been in this council five years, and I have never seen so much disposition here before to antagonize the aldermanic board. I just say that by way of parenthesis."

"It is because this council cannot be bossed like the others," was Mr. Lumpkin's reply.

The vote on the Woodward resolution, council only voting, resulted four for, four against. The chairman voted affirmatively. Messrs. Lumpkin and Thomson then gave notice of a reconsideration of the resolution at the next session of council.

The thermometer dropped a few degrees at this stage while other business was being transacted, but only to go galloping skyward again after Mr. Thomson stated he would not reconsider the resolution at the next session, and asked that he be allowed to withdraw his notice.

Chairman Dimmock called for the affirmative vote on the motion, when Mr. Lumpkin was heard once more.

"I would like to call the chair down again," said he, "but no one moved that Mr. Thomson be allowed to withdraw his notice of consideration." This made Mr. Dimmock mad.

"You are mistaken, sir," replied he, "Mr. Mitchell moved."

"Then there was no second."

Chairman Dimmock hesitated for a moment, then put the motion over again, received a second, and announced the affirmative decision.

"Now, sir, I hope you are satisfied," said he.

Clerk Greene poured oil on the troubled waters by diving into the tax ordinance, and the participants had time to cool off before anything else was said. Mr. Dimmock proved afterwards by the charter that his ruling which was appealed from was correct.

Matron Matter to Police Board.

The report of the aldermanic board recommending that the police matron matter be referred back to the police board was adopted.

A tax of $25 per annum was placed on itinerant coal agents.

A rule was adopted requiring electrical contractors to pay the taxes for the full year in advance.

Dr. A. L. Curtis, representing the druggist was present to ask that the taxes on druggists be reduced. Council agreed to allow druggists to sell tobacco and cigars without license.

The rate of taxation on soda fountains was changed to the following: One thousand dollars or more capital, $50; more than $500 capital, $30; less than $500 or more than $50 capital, $20; less than $50 capital, $10.

The tax on insurance brokers, agents, etc., was raised to $200.

Dealers in domestic wines will hereafter be required to pay $200 license.

Captain Wylie's invitation to his barbecue July 4th was unanimously accepted.

The invitation from the chamber of commerce of Nashville to attend the Fourth of July festivities in that city was acknowledged and declined with regrets on account of council meeting on that date.

The invitation from the officers of the League of American Municipalities to attend the second annual convention in Detroit August 1st to 4th was accepted, and the mayor was requested to appointed a committee to represent the Atlanta council.

SONS OF VETERANS FORMED NEW CAMP

Organization Was Effected Yesterday Afternoon.

IS KNOWN AS JEFF DAVIS CAMP

Is the Only Camp of That Name in Existence.

MEMBERS WILL ENTERTAIN SPONSORS

The Camp Will Take an Active Part in the Reunion Soon To Be Held in This City.

JEFFERSON DAVIS camp, United Sons of Confederate Veterans, was organized yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Equitable building. A very enthusiastic meeting was held and a large majority of the fifty members were present. Those at the head of the new camp announced Thursday night their intention or organizing a new camp and yesterday afternoon, when the hour for the meeting arrived, a muster roll of fifty members was presented.

Many more young men of the city have announced their intention of joining and it is believed by the officers of Jefferson Davis camp that it will soon be the largest one of the organization of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. There are several Robert E. Lee camps in the south and many others are named in honor of famous generals, but the camp organized yesterday is the only Jefferson Davis camp in existence.

The members think the name a fitting one and announce that before long they will have it the strongest camp in the organization. The birthday of Jefferson Davis will be celebrated every year by the members of the camp named in his honor and a banquet will be held at which patriotic and reminiscent addresses will be made. A series of entertainments will be given by the camp and the organization will be made social as well as patriotic.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the late president of the confederacy, and her daughter, Miss Winnie, for whom all southerners have a warm spot in their hearts, will attend the coming reunion of confederate veterans, and will be the special guests of Jefferson Davis camp, they having been telegraphed yesterday of the organization with the request that they come to Atlanta in that capacity.

Jefferson Davis camp will give a series of social entertainments during the days of the reunion in honor of the sponsors and maids of honor, and every effort will be made to have the ladies enjoy themselves. Applications for membership for the new camp may be sent to the adjutant, Mr. Henry C. Mead, with offices in the Gould building, or to any of the officers.

When General Robert A. Smyth, commander in chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans, was in the city Thursday he said that if the members of the new camp applied to him for a charter, having the required number of members, which is thirty, he would gladly grant a charter. He was addressed yesterday by letter and it is expected that the charter will be furnished at once.

The following officers were elected yesterday afternoon and they will serve for one year: W. J. Mallard, Jr., commandant; C. P. Williamson, Jr., first lieutenant commandant; Dr. L. A. Felder, second lieutenant commandant; Samuel K. Abbott, junior second lieutenant commandant; Henry C. Mead, adjutant; John Gilmore, quartermaster; Hugh M. Dorsey, historian; George S. Russey, color sergeant; Rev. T. P. Cleve-

APPOINTMENTS WILL BE MADE TODAY

Governor Did Not Announce Any New Officers Yesterday.

CONFERRED WITH COLONELS

Captain Erwin Declines a Major's Place in New Regiment.

CAPTAINS REPORT FOR ACTIVE DUTY

A Large Number of Office-Seekers Are in the City Hunting Appointments from the Governor.

GOVERNOR ATKINSON made no appointments of officers for the Third Georgia regiment yesterday. He was in conference with Colonel Candler and Lieutenant Colonel Berner during entire afternoon at the governor's mansion, but no appointments were announced after the close of the conference.

Governor Atkinson said he expected to make known some of the appointments this morning. Judge Candler said all the appointments would be made public before 12 o'clock today. This will be a great relief to the aspirants for the places, and whether appointment or disappointment comes, they will be relieved of the great suspenses that they have been in for several days.

It was confidently expected that the appointments or at least a part of them would be announced yesterday or last night, but it was said that the field was only looked over and the applicants for places were considered, nothing definite being decided.

The capitol was practically deserted of candidates for commissions yesterday, as Governor Atkinson and his conferees remained at the mansion where they would be undisturbed and could accomplish more in the direction of preparing the list of appointments.

Since the utter rout of the prophets in the appointment of Mr. Berner to second in command of the regiment no guesses were made yesterday as to who would fill the two majors' places that are yet vacant since the declination of Colonel Thomason.

Erwin Refuses Major's Place.

Governor Atkinson proffered the place of major in the regiment to Captain Erwin, of the United States cavalry, twice, but the latter refused to accept the position. It was first offered him Thursday afternoon when Captain Erwin told him that he would not accept. The governor said he would hold it open for him until yesterday morning to see if he would not reconsider, and yesterday asked if Captain Erwin would take the place, but the latter said that he would not.

Captain Erwin has been offered an aid's place on the staff of General Gordon and he considers that, he says, much more desirable than the place offered by the governor. An army officer is wanted to fill one of the three majors' places, but it is not known yet who will accept and this appointment may be delayed for a few days.

Captain Erwin is now acting adjutant general of the state, since the appointment of Captain Brown to the colonelcy of the Second Georgia regiment. He is one of the most efficient officers in the United States services, and his energetic discipline would have been a valuable acquisition to the regiment.

Captains Report for Duty.

All the captains appointed by Governor Atkinson on Thursday reported for duty yesterday, but no assignments were made to companies, as this will be reserved until all the appointments are made.

The work of recruiting is to commence at once or as soon as the officers are selected.

Lieutenant Palmer, of the regular army, was at the capitol yesterday. He has been assigned as the quartermaster for the Third regiment until it is mustered into the service. He is an old Georgia boy, having gone to West Point from Rome.

Lieutenant J. Quinby Nash, of Barnesville, called on Captain Erwin yesterday morning. He is commandant of the cadets at Barnesville.

Cantrell Under $300 Bond.

John Cantrell, of Gwinnett county, was bound over to the United States court yesterday by Commissioner Broyles to answer to the charge of making moonshine whisky. A still was found on his place and a well-worn path from the still to the house. At the house the officers found a barrel of whisky and they arrested Cantrell. He pleaded ignorance, but the circumstances were against him and he is now under a $300 bond to appear before the court and explain how the whisky happened to be in his house and who put the still up on his property without his consent.

ATLANTA, GA., June 25, 1898.

Celebrate the Fourth!

It is time that arrangements are being made for the proper observance of the Fourth of July in Atlanta.

Almost every other leading southern city is moving in the matter. Augusta is making elaborate arrangements for the celebration of the day, and the board of trade of Nashville is doing likewise. New Orleans, Richmond and other southern cities will take due notice of the day, formally recognizing it, and it is certain that the approaching anniversary of this, the greatest of all days in the history of our country, will be more generally celebrated in the south this year than at any time during the past thirty years.

Atlanta must not let the day pass unnoticed! The Declaration of Independence must be read by some well-known Atlantian, and a short talk on the significance of the day should be made to an Atlanta assemblage.

Let the chamber of commerce move! What says President T. B. Neal and the active and enterprising board of directors of that well-known Atlanta institution? Suppose they give the suggestion their consideration and act accordingly. It will meet with unanimous public approval.

The Constitution is determined that this great day in our nation's history shall be duly celebrated in Atlanta, and if the Declaration of Independence is read nowhere else, it will be formally proclaimed on the stairway of The Constitution's threshold before such Atlantians as want to hear it, and after that we will fire our little red cannon in honor of the day. Indeed, in whatever manner the day is celebrated—whether by the chamber of commerce, as it should be, or otherwise—the little red cannon will be fired anyway! It has been asleep a long time, and there never was a better time to wake it than now.

So here are the compliments of The Constitution's little red cannon to a glorious Fourth of July!

What says the chamber of commerce?

What says President Neal?

Who Is To Be Lieutenant General?

There can be no criticism of the recent action of congress in authorizing the chief executive of the United States to appoint one of the present major generals to the rank of lieutenant general whenever the time arrives to reward conspicuous ability on the part of the commanding officers. This paves the way toward disposing of what promised at one time to be the most difficult problem likely to come up in connection with the distribution of military plums.

Until the recent action of congress it was the supposed design of president McKinley to appoint Major General Miles to the rank of lieutenant general in deference to his position as the official head of the standing army of the United States; but there existed so much pronounced opposition throughout the country to this course that congress felt called upon to intervene in the matter. The resons upon which the opposition to the appointment of Major General Miles was based were, first, that the opportunity had not arrived for him to show whether or not he possessed the qualifications requisite to the high rank of lieutenant general, and second, that until the opportunity did arrive with such results as to justify promotion, it would hardly be fair to elevate him into equality of rank with such great soldiers of the late war as Grant, Sheridan and Sherman, who won promotion only upon the proof of superb fitness demonstrated in the severe test of the field of battle. Of course, it is unnecessary to state that this opposition to Major General Miles has been wholly consistent with the most cordial respect for his splendid personal traits and also with the possibility that he might yet develop the qualifications which would entitle him to promotion. But war is stern in the requirements which it makes upon officers; and while Major General Miles has undoubtedly displayed some of the marked attributes of the true soldier since coming into his present position, he has been schooled as yet, barring his brief period of service in the late war, only in the mild discipline of the parade ground, and it still remains to be seen with what grace he acquits himself in the grim realities of the actual encounter. Such being the facts in the case it seems that congress has acted with commendable discretion in holding up matters until the developments of the war can enable the chief executive with some degree of accuracy to determine which of the major generals now in service deserves to be promoted to the rank of lieutenant general.

Congress has thus placed the coveted prize of the supreme command within the possible reach of any one of the present major generals, and it is left for the disclosures of the near future to reveal which one of the brave candidates is entitled to the honor. Of course, the south covets it for one of her own sons; but she wants it to go to the hero who deserves it, regardless of the section from which he hails, and she holds herself in readiness to shower her benedictions upon him, whoever he may be.

Revolutionary Action.

The Constitution is amazed at the action of the Cobb county executive committee in formally announcing that it will repudiate the nomination of the senatorial district convention in the event that any other candidate is presented than the one who was offered in the Cobb county primary—Mr. Mozley.

The senatorial convention, by the vote of the Fulton delegation and also of delegates from both Cobb and Clayton counties, has tendered the nomination to Colonel R. T. Nesbitt, and if Colonel Nesbitt accepts, he will be elected by an overwhelming majority. The action of the Cobb county committee is revolutionary in the extreme, and if tolerated by the democrats of the district would put a premium on independentism in the district.

The delegates from Cobb county voted for Mr. Moseley more than three thousand times. He was not acceptable to a majority of the convention, and in the interest of party harmony, half of the Cobb county delegates joined with delegates from Clayton and those from Fulton in solving the deadlock by tendering the nomination to Colonel Nesbitt. The attack made by the Cobb county committee on the two well-known and deserving democrats who held their duty to their party to be above that to an individual is ungenerous in the extreme, and it will be resented not only by their friends, but by the democracy of the whole district, which infinitely prefers to see the integrity of the party preserved rather than that any one man should succeed at the sacrifice of party harmony, and at the threatened disruption of the party organization of the district.

Where Authority Rests.

The Jackson (Ga.) Argus prints the following, which, as it suggests comment, we reproduce:

Fourteen counties took action on the 6th instant on candidates for supreme court judgeships. Butts was among this number.

The Atlanta Constitution of the 9th instant intimates that the action may be annulled by the state democratic executive committee, on the ground that it was contrary to orders given by that body.

If this intimation is official it deserves attention, and if The Atlanta Constitution is not able to speak for the committee we would like to know who is. If the state committee undertakes to set the action of Butts county aside at the suggestion of The Constitution it will exhibit a reckless regard for the welfare of the party here. The Argus has not had any adverse criticism for the state committee up to this time, though we have not approved fully its actions. Others have been silent in order to foster harmony, and now if this silence is mistaken as a confession that all wisdom and authority is centered in a bare majority of the committee, who have a right to run the counties to suit themselves, they will develop discord and bitterness in the party. The committee should have no friends to reward and no enemies to punish inside the party ranks.

In the first place, The Constitution has never intimated that the state democratic committee was likely to annul any primary election held by the people. Such an intimation would be absurd, even if the committee had the power to annul the action of the counties which included the supreme court judges in the gubernatorial primary; but the committee has no such power. All that it can do in such matters is to provide rules and regulations for the holding of primaries and to fix a convenient date so that all the counties may act together on a given day, in accordance with the desires of the people as expressed through a state convention. The authority lies, not in the state executive committee, but in the democratic state convention representing the voters of the party.

When the question of separating the governor's primary from that of the supreme court judges was up before the state committee The Constitution was in favor of separate primaries. We expressed the belief before the recent supreme court primary that we were now convinced that it was a mistake to hold these primaries on different dates; not a serious mistake, but a simple error of judgment. The theory was that the supreme court primaries should be kept apart from any struggle between political candidates; but the fact is that the people themselves are entirely capable of making at the polls the distinction which the state committee tried to make by separating the primaries.

Nevertheless, we see no reason why any county committee should undertake to go contrary to the rules and recommendations of the state committee as to uniform action. While those who ignored the recommendations of the committee have done no harm, they have betrayed a very unwise and unnecessary desire to run contrary to the will and purpose of the democratic party as expressed through its state conventions, and overwhelmingly confirmed in the recent governor's primary, when the democratic voters of Georgia practically turned out in a body to nominate a candidate for governor. No party reform ever inaugurated in this or in any other state ever had a more substantial, a more unanimous indorsement than this.

Our friend of The Argus will not be under the necessity of criticising the state committee, for that body has neither desire nor authority to administer a rebuke to those who, without reason or excuse, have placed themselves in the unseemly attitude of contributing their mite to the promotion of party discord. Whatever is said or done about the matter will have to originate with the members of the two state conventions shortly to meet, who come directly from the people.

While no harm has been done, and while we are now of the opinion that the two primaries should have been held on the same day, nevertheless the spectacle of a few county committees holding back and refusing to conform to the rules and recommendations of the state committees is neither wholesome nor profitable. It is a matter that will undoubtedly attract the attention of one or both of the conventions shortly to be held; and these conventions should act on it, not for the purpose of discrediting or condemning the recalcitrant county committees, but in order to complete and round out, and fix permanently in the constitution of the democratic party of Georgia this, the most signal, the most significant, the most far-reaching and the most important internal reform ever undertaken by any political body in this country.

Both these conventions, coming direct from the people, and themselves the first products of this reform, should be forward in fastening it upon the party, and in impressing upon democratic authorities in every nook and corner of the state the necessity of uniform primaries at every polling place and precinct in the state, these primaries to be held on the same day. And the first of these conventions should give to the state committee the authority to provide uniform blanket ballots containing the names of all the candidates for a party nomination, so that each voter may have the opportunity to choose between them. Those who make themselves conspicuous in behalf of this reform will not be forgotten by the people.

In conclusion we will say to our friend of The Argus that it is idle to try to identify The Constitution as the official organ of anything or anybody. It is, perhaps, a compliment to be told that The Constitution speaks for the state committee. But The Constitution speaks for the committee only to the extent that the committee represents the democratic party; and it speaks for the democratic party only in so far as the organization represents the people. The Constitution earnestly strives to be the organ of the people. It trusts the people entirely; it trusts them even when it thinks they are wrong, for they are sure to be right in the end.

Trusting the people, and believing fully in their capacity to decide all questions for themselves—questions of policy as well as questions of candidates—The Constitution is in favor of referring to them the issues of party as well as the interests of individuals.

Mrs. Atkinson's Suggestion.

Since the movement recently undertaken by the young ladies of Atlanta to raise special funds for the relief of the Atlanta boys at the front has accomplished such handsome results, there is ground to believe that equal success will attend the practical and timely suggestion of Mrs. Governor W. Y. Atkinson, which appears in detail elsewhere, to form the various local associations of the state into one effective state organization.

This suggestion is eminently wise. Without affecting the individuality of the various local associations, it merely contemplates the union of these associations into one body for the purpose of securing uniform, harmonious and cooperative work. In every branch of enterprise experience has shown that concentration of effort is essential to the highest measure of success, and this is what the suggestion of Mrs. Atkinson seeks to accomplish. In order to facilitate matters Mrs. Atkinson has appointed eleven ladies, one from each congressional district in the state, to act as vice presidents of the state organization, and has, furthermore, invited all ladies interested in the cause of raising emergency funds supplementary to those of the government for the relief of the Georgia boys at the front to meet at the executive mansion at 4 o'clock on June 26th, next.

On account of the spirit of practical patriotism which the suggestion of Mrs. Atkinson embodies, it is to be hoped that it will meet with wide favor. The Constitution bespeaks for it the hearty support of the ladies of Georgia.

A Broad-Minded Suggestion.

Mr. Thomas S. Townsend, of New York, writes a communication to The New York Tribune bearing upon the proposed return of the confederate regimental battleflags captured by the union army during the late war.

Since the outbreak of the present war with Spain, the disposition to return to the south the old confederate trophies taken in the sixties has become widespread throughout the north. What intensifies this sentiment is the fact that not one single note of discord has disturbed the perfect harmony of feeling which the suggestion to return these trophies has evoked from the old union soldiers. But Mr. Townsend goes even further. While he commends in the most cordial terms the spirit of the suggestion, he opposes its letter on the ground that it would be much better at this time to gather the captured battleflags of both armies for the purpose of displaying them at some convenient place in Washington, D. C., under the auspices of the government. He proceeds upon the idea that the great struggle which was fought between the sections thirty-odd years ago was fought in exhibition of that rigid fidelity to principle which characterized both sections, and he contends that the lessons of American patriotism may be illustrated as effectively in the folds of the captured confederate battleflags as in the folds of the captured union battleflags. Mr. Townsend candidly admits that if the south was to blame for endeavoring to uphold the institution of slavery, the north was equally to blame for engaging in the traffic which made that institution possible. But, without dwelling upon the causes of the war, Mr. Townsend makes the point that it served to emphasize the heroism of Americans, regardless of the side upon which they fought. "If we are to be in the future a really united country," says this broad-minded commentator, "we must adopt a more patriotic view in recalling the events of the war than we have heretofore taken. The north must do homage to the heroes of the south; the south must admit and emphasize the bravery of those who fought against them." There is logic as well as patriotism in this advice. Both sections of the country in the late war were actuated by what they conceived to be the right. On the question of secession they had both honestly differed for years prior to the final clash of arms; and such being the case, they are both entitled to the admiring homage of the whole American people.

Without undertaking to discuss the merits of the proposition which Mr. Townsend makes, we commend most heartily the spirit which it breathes. We have seen nothing in print which voices to better purpose the feeling of brotherhood which today exists between the once divided sections. Whatever may become of Mr. Townsend's proposition, there can be no doubt of the fact that the day is not far distant when the war will be looked on with different eyes from those through which it is now seen, and when the achievements of both armies will be proclaimed with unstinted praise in both sections.

What Every Schoolboy Knows.

If there is one fact of American history about which there ought to be absolutely no dispute, it is the fact that the first steamboat to cross the Atlantic ocean sailed from Savannah, Ga., on July 15, 1819.

Yet, strange to say, some irrepressible wiseacre comes to the front with each issue of the almanac, maintaining in utter ignorance of the well authenticated records that the first steamboat to cross the Atlantic ocean sailed at some other time from some other place. Apropos, Mr. George H. Hansell, of New York, has recently given out the alleged information through the columns of The New York World, that the first steamboat to cross the Atlantic ocean sailed from some northern seaport in 1835, and that the name of this vessel was the Sirius. We are glad to note the promptitude with which The New York World has corrected this ridiculous mistake, and we sincerely trust that Mr. Hansell will be taught by the rebuke which he has suffered to carefully revise his statements before he again undertakes to deal with the facts of American history.

While on this subject it might not be amiss to refer briefly to the circumstances connected with the trip of the first steamboat to cross the Atlantic ocean. The name of this pioneer vessel was the Savannah in honor of the seaport from which it sailed. Instead of crossing the ocean directly, the Savannah first sailed to New York, proceeding thence without interruption upon its voyage to Liverpool. On nearing the Irish coast it was mistaken by the inhabitants of that quarter for some supernatural manifestation, being wholly devoid of sails and altogether different from anything which they had ever before seen. In due season the vessel reached its destination at Liverpool amid the loud hurrahs of the astonished multitude assembled at the pier. Such, in the merest outline, is the story of the first steamboat to cross the Atlantic ocean.

In pointing out the absurd error made by Mr. Hansell, The New York World reminds that individual that steam navigation upon the Atlantic had been successfully in vogue for more than sixteen years at the time when the Sirius was alleged to have opened the way for that innovation. Moreover, the great metropolitan newspaper informs Mr. Hansell that ten years before the Sirius performed the fabled wonders imputed to it upon the Atlantic, Captain Johnson had received the handsome sum of £10,000 for successfully rounding the Cape of Good Hope en route from England to India on a steamboat. Mr. Hansell is certainly entitled to head the list of wiseacres from whom there is little concealed either in the heavens above, in the earth beneath, or in the waters under the earth.

It is funny that some of the eastern organs which favor the acquisition of the Philippines are bitterly opposed to the annexation of Hawaii. We hope they can tell us why.

If General Shafter had been a newspaper editor in the east he never would have found General Garcia and his troops.

The New York Times credits an article to "The Atlantic Constitution." Thanks! We didn't know The Constitution was so wide and deep.

It is said that, while General Miles has his fads, he is a very able officer. Well, we hope so. They said Dewey was a dandy, and sure enough he is.

It is said that the Cuban insurgents are half-naked. Go back to history and compare that information with the condition of the American patriots.

The Atlanta Constitution has celebrated its thirtieth anniversary. No newspaper in America has exerted a more potent influence for the spread of the true democracy formulated in the Chicago platform.

LIVINGSTON ON CLEVELAND.

It Will Take a New Issue To Make Grover a Leader.

Washington, June 24.—(Special.)—Congressman Livingston has been interviewed by The Star concerning the recent speech of ex-President Cleveland. In his interview Colonel Livingston says:

"If the democratic party is going to lay aside the issue on which we fought at the last election and look for a new issue over the question of Hawaii and the Philippines, Grover Cleveland is the logical leader of the party. If this is to be our course, he is the logical candidate for 1900. He is quick to realize this. He has probably read of the democratic caucus and marked the reaching out of a new issue and is quick to seize his opportunity. If the democratic party is going to continue the fight for free silver, then it can have nothing to do with Grover Cleveland. If free silver is to be the issue we cannot burden ourselves with other issues, particularly issues on which we are divided. But if the party is going to turn aside and make an issue of opposition to Hawaii, Mr. Cleveland is the logical leader. He stands as the supreme head of the opposition to the acquisition of territory. Therefore, when he saw what was going on at Washington he came out of obscurity and taking the head of the line, sounded his bugle call." OHL.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Kitty of Coleraine.

Editor Constitution—"Kitty of Coleraine" appeared in your last Sunday's issue credited to Charles Dawson Shanly. I would like to know who Charles Dawson Shanly may be. "Kitty of Coleraine" was written about fifty years ago by an anonymous author, though some give to Tom Moore the credit, while others ascribe it to Charles Lever. While it is possible that Mr. Shanly wrote it, I am wondering why he did not stick to the original text; it would have the prestige of being more in keeping with the Irish dialect and character. I inclose "Kitty of Coleraine" as it may be found in any collection of Irish songs of poetry. ANON.

"As beautiful Kitty one morning was tripping
With a pitcher of milk to the fair of Coleraine;
When she saw me she stumbled, the pitcher it tumbled,
And all the sweet butthermilk wathered the plain.
'Ah, sure now, 'tis thrue now, 'twas lookin' at you now!
Sure, sure, such a pitcher I'll ne'er see again.
'Twas the pride of my dairy; Oh, Barney McCleary,
You're sint as a plague to the girls of Coleraine.'

"I sat down beside her and gently did chide her,
That such a misfortune should give her such pain;
A kiss then I gave her, till before I did lave her
She vowed for such pleasure she'd break it again.
Not very long after poor Kitty's disaster—
Misfortunes will never come singly, 'tis plain—
'Twas May sason, sure I don't know the rason,
But the divil a pitcher was whole in Coleraine."

The Rest of the Story.

Editor Constitution—In a recent issue, in referring to brave deeds, reference is made to a body of confederates who attacked the federals at Fairfax courthouse and captured the commanding general. As the writer told only half the story, I'll tell it all.

There was a body of federal cavalry camped at Fairfax courthouse. I can't say how strong, but a small body of confederates approached and sent a few of their number to represent the relief—this was in the night. The federal sentinel challenged and the other advanced to give the countersign. The squad advanced and took in the sentinel. Then they advanced to the next sentinel and took him in, and so on, until they took in the line of sentinels on that side of the camp. Then they quietly went to where the horses were picketed and took them in also. Bear in mind there was no noise, not a shot was fired. Then learning that the commanding officer was quietly sleeping outside his lines in a neighboring farmhouse, they went there and took him in, and with them and these they quietly left. There was no fight. As soon as Mr. Lincoln heard of it next day, he remarked in his own inimitable way: "Well, I don't care for the loss of the general, I can make all the generals I want, but I'm sorry about the horses, they cost money."

I was stationed near Fairfax at the time and learned of the occurrence next morning. There was no attack, no fighting; 'twas a bold enterprise and well done. I am familiar with the name of the federal general, but cannot now recall it.

A VETERAN.

FREAKS OF LIGHTNING

Marietta, Ga., Journal: Mr. W. H. Fox, wife and two daughters, on returning to the city last Sunday afternoon from a drive on Powder Springs street, were caught in a rain, and just as the horse and vehicle arrived in front of Dr. D. A. Warlick's residence a bolt of lightning struck a tree just inside the city cemetery, only a few feet away. The horse became frightened and reared, which caused Mrs. Fox to jump out of the vehicle. Mr. Fox succeeded in getting control of the horse and stopped him from running. The lightning passed so close as to blind them. It was a narrow escape from death. The tree was split and shattered.

Columbus, Ga., Enquirer-Sun: On Mr. Eugene Thompson's place last Saturday night a negro cabin was struck by lightning, making kindling wood of the headboard of the bed in which negroes were sleeping. The house was pretty badly torn up, but no one was hurt.

Columbia, Ala., Breeze: Lightning struck and set fire to five trees within sight of Uncle Jack Armstrong's house at Balkum.

King's Mountain, N. C., Reformer: In Lincoln county, near Orleans, on Tuesday evening of last week, a Mrs. Etters was struck and instantly killed by lightning. Close to her home was a sick neighbor whom she went over to see, taking with her one or two of her children. The children, our informant, J. B. Walker, says, were just ahead and just before she reached the house she was instantly killed. Her shoes were torn literally to pieces on her feet.

At Sardis, Tenn., John King and Jim Johnson, two white farmers living about ten miles south of that place, were struck by lightning yesterday evening. Both men were at King's house during the thunderstorm, when the bolt came down the chimney of the building, striking both men. King soon recovered from his shock, but at the last accounts Johnson was still in a bad condition and still confined to his bed.

Baltimore American: A terrific thunder storm swept over the sixth district of Baltimore county on Monday afternoon. Lightning struck the schoolhouse at Newmarket, tearing two huge holes in the building and causing a panic among the pupils. The shoes were torn from the feet of Miss Ozelle B. Kirkwood, the assistant teacher of the school, and the dress of the young granddaughter of Mr. Alexander Keys, one of the pupils, caught fire and she was severely burned. Several of the other pupils received severe electrical shocks, and the vivid flashes of lightning made the schoolroom present the appearance of a fiery furnace. The children ran to and fro in terror, and the cry of fire was raised. With great difficulty Mr. Levin J. Heathcoate, the principal of the school, restored order and forced the children to resume their seats. As soon as the raging storm subsided he dismised the school, and the children returned to their homes in a very nervous condition. Miss Kirkwood was removed to her home, and after receiving medical attention recovered from the severe shock she had undergone.

In Princess Ann county, Maryland, during a severe thunderstorm yesterday evening the house belonging to the vestry of Somerset parish, at Monie church, was struck by lightning, and one part of it considerably damaged. The house is occupied by Charles Reese, the sexton of the church. No one was injured. During the storm Mrs. Amos H. Case, of Mt. Vernon district, was at the store of Holland & Barbon, near her residence, and starting for home, she became frightened and fell in the road and expired of heart failure before assistance could reach her.

GEORGIANS GO OUT SERENADING

First Regiment Band Visits Camp of the Michiganders.

THEY HAVE A GOOD TIME

Northern Bands Had Been Forbidden To Play Airs

SOUTHERNERS MIGHT TAKE AS OFFENSE

Colonel Lawton, Hearing of It, Had His Band to Play "Marching Through Georgia" to Show That Sectionalism Does Not Prevail.

Chickamauga Park, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—"Marching Through Georgia," the song which caused a riot between the Georgia and Michigan soldiers at Tampa, was played in concert last night by the bands of the First Georgia regiment and the Thirty-first Michigan at Camp Thomas. Sectionalism was certainly forgotten by these soldiers, some of the extreme north and others of the far south. They were all as one people, and when the bands played "Dixie" the Michiganders yelled their applause as heartily as the Georgians cheered when the strains of "Yankee Doodle" floated out over the camp.

The Georgians went over to serenade the Michigan camp, and to show their good feeling, the band was instructed to play the martial airs that are best loved by the men of the north. The Michigan men, not to be outdone and in the same spirit of good fellowship, played those songs which are the dearest music to southern hearts. Colonel Lawton, of the Georgia regiment, and Colonel Gardner, of the Michigan command, sat together in Colonel Gardner's tent while the bands played on.

Music by the Georgians.

The serenade by the Georgians was given by Colonel Lawton to show the northern men how much he appreciated the delicate feeling that had prompted the officers of the northern regiments in ordering their men to abstain from doing or saying anything which might displease the Georgians. Colonel Lawton, in some way, heard that the commanders of the regiments around his camp had instructed their bands not to play "Marching Through Georgia" or any music which might give offense to the southerners. This order was strictly complied with, and until last night the bands never touched upon a song that was calculated to sound a note of discord in the First brigade. Colonel Lawton was deeply moved by the consideration of the commanders in his vicinity, and to prove to them that the southern people are not confined to any narrow groove of sectional sentiment, he assembled the band of the First Georgia in front of his camp and ordered the musicians to play "Marching Through Georgia." This was rendered and was followed by "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie."

After supper the Georgia band, accompanied by the officers of the regiment, went over to the Michigan camp and gave the serenade. The visitors were well received and were shown every possible courtesy.

Colonel Lawton has personally asked the colonels who command the regiments near him to instruct their bands to play any tune, and has assured the officers that the men of his regiment will not take offense. The news of Colonel Lawton's serenade is all over the park today and the officers of the different regiments are loud in their praise of the gallant Georgian who is broad enough to show that, however ardent he may be in his love for the south, he does not allow himself to be controlled by a senseless sectionalism.

The members of the Georgia camp are rejoicing over the promotion or the five privates of the First, who have been appointed as officers in the new Georgia regiment. Colonel Lawton says he regrets to lose such good men from the ranks, but he believes they deserve the promotion to positions which they are well fitted to fill. The camp here is being rapidly put in fine shape, but it will never be as good as that at Camp Northen.

Pay Day Near at Hand.

Pay day is fast approaching and the Georgians are feeling quite jubilant on that account. They have been promised that their pay would be given them on the first of next month. The Georgia boys will get nearly two months wages when their pay finally arrives.

Some regiments here from other states are more fortunate than the Georgia regiment in that their state governments have paid them for the time they were in service before being mustered into the United States service. All the New Yorkers are geting quite a sum of money this week from this source.

Over two million dollars will be turned loose in this camp next week. This immense sum will be paid out to the soldiers here and though it is a large amount it will be spent in a few days. The soldier boys are liberal with their coin and when they have money it goes freely and fast.

The Georgia camp will be the best equipped in the park when Colonel Lawton finishes the work. Colonel Lee, the quartermaster for the army here, says the First Georgia is a fine regiment and he is sparing nothing that will complete the equipment of the command. Colonel Lawton has a way of getting what he wants for the regiment and his persistence in this direction is having its effect in giving the Georgians more conveniences than are enjoyed by some other regiments.

Recruits for the First Georgia are coming in quite fast. Colonel Lawton expects to soon have the regiment recruited to the full complement of men. There has been a ready response to the call for recruits, as the boys are anxious to enlist in a regiment which is expected to be the first to the front. The health of the Georgia boys is excellent except for vaccination and measles. The water here is having its effect, which is to knock out the men for a few days. After once becoming used to the drinking water it is said to be healthy. The only cause for complaint in the Georgia camp is the lack of hospital accommodations and the rather rocky camp site of the Third battalion.

The two Georgia batteries of light artillery are pleased with their new quarters. Captain Bradley, of the Atlanta battery, and Captain Walker, of the Savannah battery, are both hard at work getting the men in shape. There has been no trouble in getting recruits for these two batteries. Some of the Georgians are kicking because the artillery and the First regiment are so far apart. At Griffin all of the fellows were together, but here the First regiment is three miles from the two Georgia batteries.

Scrap on the Midway.

Another exciting shooting affair occurred on the midway at Lytle last night in which one cowboy from a western cowboy regiment and one negro man were hurt. The negro was slightly wounded, and the cavalryman was badly injured by a blow on the leg from a rock. The battle was by far the liveliest occurrence that the midway has furnished, pistols and guns were used in a reckless manner and nearby houses were bored full of holes by the flying lead. The soldiers claim that a crowd of negroes tried to impose on them and they used their guns for self protection. No arrests could be made, as the parties concerned were all in hiding today except the soldiers, and there was no evidence against them. The sham battle here tomorrow will be a magnificent show and over 7,000 men will take part. Nothing of interest occurred at the Lafayette court today.

J. TILDEN ADAMSON.

MORE TROOPS AT CHICKAMAUGA.

Fifty-two Thousand Soldiers Now in Camp There.

Chickamauga National Military Park, Ga., June 24.—The thermometer registered 92 degrees at the park today. This is about as high as the mercury has gone since the summer set in, but it was not so noticeable because of the continuous presence of a breeze that was highly refreshing. The command has grown rapidly during the last few days and there are now more troops in camp at the park than at any time since the mobilization of the army began.

Captain Rockwell, chief of the ordnance department, today, after some calculation, estimated the number at 52,000. His records show that he has handed out for distribution in the command about 37,000 rifles. He still lacks 15,000 rifles for the soldiers in camp.

The number of soldiers is being increased on an average of more than a thousand a day by the arrival of recruits. About 1,200 recruits, representing various states, reached the park today and were escorted direct to the respective regiments for which they were recruited. Among the regiments that received recruits today were:

The Eighth New York, 227, completing its complement.

Ninth New York, 225, nearly completing its number.

Second Ohio, 225, almost completing its complement.

Sixteenth Pennsylvania, 80, filling the regiment.

In addition to these, recruits arrived in greater or less number for the Fourteenth New York, First Maine, Twenty-first Kansas, Ninth Pennsylvania, Fifth Pennsylvania, Fifty-second Iowa, Second Nebraska, Third Kentucky, Second Arkansas, Eighth Massachusetts, Twelfth Minnesota.

The Twenty-first Kansas lacks only a few men of having its full complement.

General Rosser Reaches Camp.

Brigadier General Thomas L. Rosser, of Virginia, arrived today, reported at headquarters and was assigned to the command of the Third brigade, second division, third corps.

General James A. Longstreet and his young wife, of Georgia, were visitors at the park today and paid their respects to General Brooke and staff.

No stores were distributed by the ordnance department today and none arrived except three car loads of equipage for the Third volunteer cavalry. These stores will be distributed tomorrow. The ordnance department is expecting more shipments soon, but received no advices of any today.

The hospital department is rapidly carrying its plans into effect. The reserve ambulance company is complete and in good order, while the nuclei of a number of division ambulance companies have been formed and will be complete organizations as soon as they have been recruited to their full strength. Lieutenant Colonel Huidekoper, chief surgeon of the first corps, states that numerous recruits are arriving for the hospital and ambulance branch of the service, and that it is a matter of only a short time when every division will have a well drilled ambulance company, ample in numbers to meet promptly any emergency that is likely to arise in action. Colonel Lee, chief quartermaster of the command, said today that the government had on hand ample horses for immediate demands, but that it had been impossible to receive wagons and mules as rapidly as they could be disposed of. Many of the regiments are making out with one-half the teams due them under the army regulations. Captain George L. Converse, First Ohio cavalry, was assigned today to General Poland's staff as ordnance officer.

HIGHBINDER WAR IMMINENT.

'Frisco Chinese Are Killing Out the Chinese Contractors.

San Francisco, June 24.—It is alleged that another highbinder war is imminent in Chinatown.

The shooting of Chung Ying two nights ago, it is said, has been followed by threats against at least four other prominent Chinese. A price of $300 is reported to have been put on their heads.

The men are all manufacturers and they have gained the enmity of a portion of their countrymen by employing non-union laborers. Their names are D. Wing, Kim Wah Lung, Moy K. Hin and Mock Foo. Wing is an overall maker and employs about eighty hands. His factory is now closely guarded.

MORRIS HIRSCH MADE RECEIVER

He Will Take Charge of Assets of Moody and Brewster.

COURT ISSUES INSTRUCTIONS

Attorneys Have Warm Discussion Over Appointment of Receiver.

SOME WANTED A CO-RECEIVERSHIP

Smyly & Co. Put in the Hands of a Receiver, and Judge Bloodworth Is Appointed.

MORRIS HIRSCH was made permanent receiver for Moody & Brewster yesterday morning by Judge Lumpkin. The case was pre-emptorily set for yesterday morning, and all business was laid aside to take it up and have the receiver appointed.

Mr. W. R. Brown read the petition to the court that had been agreed upon by the greater number of attorneys in the case. The petition had been carefully prepared, but those attorneys who had not seen it were dissatisfied with some of the provisions, especially as to the time allowed for the creditors to make their reports to the receiver of the amount of goods and notes and other assets that was due them.

The discussion over the bill lasted an hour, and some sharp arguments were made reagrding it. Judge Lumpkin asked many questions and finally gave some instructions about the preparation of the order for the court to sign, and suspended the consideration of the case until 12 o'clock, when it was taken up again.

At the first hearing some objection was made to Mr. Hirsch being the receiver. It was thought that no opposition would be waged against him, and that the provisions of the order was all that was objectionable to some of the attorneys, who claimed surprise, saying that they had not had an opportunity to see it.

At 12 o'clock the case was again opened, and Mr. Alex King read the new order to the court. The direction given to the receiver and the general plan outlined for the management of the assets and liabilities were acceptable, but a storm broke over the appointment of the receiver. No objection was made to Mr. Hirsch as an individual, but a co-receiver was wanted to act in conjunction with Mr. Hirsch in settling the affairs of the concern.

The attorneys for the temporary receiver, the defendants and others wanted only one receiver, but the creditors represented by Mr. S. C. Tapp, who precipitated the fight, by Dorsey, Brewster & Howell, Hammond, Skeen & Langley, Ellis & Gray and others, wanted a co-receivership. Every phase of the situation was argued, and, nearly every firm represented in the litigation spoke on the reappointment of the receiver.

Two Receivers Wanted.

The attorneys advocating one receiver and supporting Mr. Hirsch said that they were unwilling to stand the expense of a co-receivership, and thought that two receivers would act as an impediment to closing up the affairs of the defunct firm and that it might bring about an endless litigation.

Judge Dorsey and Judge Hammond though that their interests were not the same as the creditors who wanted only one receiver, and as they had not been consulted upon the appointment of Mr. Hirsch, they thought, in justice to themselves and their clients, the court should recognize their right to ask for a co-receiver.

They supported Mr. William T. Ashford, and vigorously argued their rights in the case. The point was raised that Mr. Ashford was a stockholder and director of the Fourth National bank, a large creditor of Moody & Brewster. It was shown, however, after Mr. Ashford was called up by telephone, that he had sold his stock in the bank and was no longer a director. The lawyers objected to him, however, on the ground of his intimate relations to the bank.

The question of a co-receiver was discussed until 2:30 o'clock, when the court overruled the objection raised by Judges Hammond and Dorsey, and signed the following order providing for the appointment of one permanent receiver, and that to be Mr. Morris Hirsch:

"Park Woolen Mills, et al. vs. Moody & Brewster, et al., No. 6027, Fulton Superior Court, fall term, 1898.

"It is ordered that a receiver be appointed to take charge of all the assets, real and personal, partnership and individual, of Moody & Brewster, John T. Moody, G. S. Brewster, Moody Loan and Banking Company, and Southern Pacific Guano Company, including money, choses in action and all other assets, and will at once demand from each of said parties all such assets.

"2. He is ordered at once to take a full and complete inventory of all said assets, first of the claimed goods, and then of the general stock, keeping a separate inventory of all goods which are now claimed to be identified, or which may hereafter be claimed to be identified under order of court, and to hold such identifications now made and to be made separate and apart from the rest of the stock in his possession, all identifications to be made before a sale is made, and in no event later than thirty days from the completion and filing of the inventory. Said inventory is to be made, but not recorded.

Bank Made a Party.

"3. It is also ordered that the Fourth National bank be made a party defendant to this proceeding, and that the said Fourth National bank, Lowry Banking Company, Capital City bank, Third National bank, Marlett Trust and Banking Company and the Exchange bank be allowed to retain the collaterals now in their possession, and to collect the same, provided, however, that said banks shall complete itemized list of their indebtedness against said defendants, and also a complete and itemized list of all collaterals, including notes, accounts and contracts now in their possession, showing the names of the debtors, whether maker or indorser on said collaterals, with their places of residence and the amount of each collateral.

"It is further ordered that the defendants be allowed to collect in their said collaterals, and if there should be a surplus over and above the indebtedness claimed by them, that such surplus shall be turned over to the receiver herein named. The question of ownership or of priority of lien or equity in said collaterals is not decided by this order."

"4. It is further ordered that any intervenor claiming title to goods now in the possession of the receiver, or that may hereafter claim title and may make an identification as hereinbefore provided, shall have the privilege of either having said goods sold separately by said receiver and allowing the litigation to proceed over the fund arising from such sale, or said intervenor shall be permitted to take the goods claimed upon giving bond with sufficient security, to be approved by the clerk of this court, payable to the receiver in this cause, and his successors in office for the use of the parties to this cause as their interests may appear; said cureties on the bond becoming parties to this bill by signing the same. Such bond to be in the sum of 90 per cent of the invoice price of the goods thus claimed, conditional to pay to the said receiver 90 per cent of the invoice cost of such of the goods so claimed as to which the said claim may not be sustained, and also to pay such portion of the costs and expenses of this litigation as the court may adjudge against him, and as may not be covered by the 10 per cent hereinafter ordered to be deposited; and in addition such intervenors shall pay in cash to the receiver the sum of 10 per cent of the invoice price of the goods thus claimed, the said 10 per cent to be subject to the payment of such costs as may be adjudged by the court against said claimant; and part of the same not so applied by the order of the court to be returned to said claimant if said claim is sustained or in the event the same is not sustained to be subject to the further order of the court.

"Upon his qualification the receiver shall within ten days allow any party applying so to do to inspect and check up any of the goods now claimed and identified; and identifications thereafter made he shall allow parties desiring to do so ten days from the date of identification to make such inspection and examination.

"5. The receiver shall procure sufficient insurance to adequately protect the property in his possession, and he shall be authorized to pay help, rent and such other expenses as may be necessary in carrying out the orders of court.

"It is ordered that the temporary restraining orders heretofore granted restraining the defendants Moody & Brewster, Moody Loan and Banking Company and Southern Pacific Guano Company, their agents or employees, are continued and made permanent, and they are enjoined from in anywise interfering with the possession of the receiver or from changing in anywise the status of their assets.

"6. It is ordered that the assets in the possession of Nunnally Bros. and the Atlanta Pants Factory shall be turned over to the receiver without prejudice to such liens, rights and claims as said Nunnally Bros. or Atlanta Pants factory may have on said property. The receiver shall make an itemized inventory of all goods turned over by Nunnally Brs. and the Atlanta Pants factory and keep such goods separate and apart from other goods in his possession, and said goods shall also be subject to identification by intervenors; but such goods so turned over shall not be subject to be taken out upon bond as hereinbefore provided. The receiver is authorized in his discretion to have goods now in process of manufacture completed upon such terms as he may contract, and to pay for the same.

Mr. Hirsch Appointed.

"7. It is ordered and adjudged that Morris Hirsch be, and he is, appointed permanent receiver of all the assets of the defendants as hereinbefore specified, and to carry out the provisions of this order.

"The receiver shall give bond with good security, to be approved by the clerk of this court, in the sum of $50,000 dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duty as receiver, and that he will pay out and deliver all moneys and assets as he may be ordered by the court, the same to be payable to the clerk of this court for the benefit of the parties interested.

"8. It is further ordered that the temporary receiver do turn over all the assets in his hands to the permanent reseiver, and do also make a report of his actings and doings in the premises, showing all receipts and disbursements, liabilities and a full itemized statement of the transactions of his receivership.

"J. H. LUMPKIN,
"J. S. C. Atlanta Circuit."

The work of Receiver Hirsch will begin at once and the large number of creditors will be satisfied as far as possible and as rapidly as can be done. The work is an immense undertaking and will require almost the entire summer to settle the affairs.

The attorneys interested in the case are Messrs. W. R. Brown and Glenn, Slaton & Phillips, original attorneys who filed the first bill in the litigation. This was for a receiver for Moody & Brewster. Since then Mr. Brown has largely managed the legal work, preparing a large number of papers that are now important documents. Glenn, Slaton & Phillips have been working in conjunction with him. The other attorneys represented are Rosser & Carter, N. J. & T. A. Hammond, Hammond, Skeen & Langley, Dorsey, Brewster & Howell, W. H. & E. R. Black, Fulton Colville, Goodwin, Westmoreland & Hallman, King & Anderson, Ellis & Gray, Payne & Tye, Van Epps & Leftwich, E. C. Kontz, Alex W. & Victor Smith, S. C. Tapp, George C. Spence, J. E. McClelland, King & Spalding, Judge John T. Pendleton, John L. Hopkins & Sons, Quill Orme, Walter McElreath, Arnold & Arnold.

Receiver for Smyly & Co.

Immediately after the hearing of the Moody & Brewster case a bill was presented Judge Lumpkin asking that a receiver be appointed for Smyly & Co., which, it is said, was one of the dummies under which Moody & Brewster operated.

Smyly & Co. is located at 123 Decatur street and deals in wholesale dry goods, notions and shoes. Mr. Smyly is a brother-in-law of Mr. Moody and it is said that the two firms were closely connected. Judge J. G. Bloodworth was made the temporary receiver.

It was ordered by the court that a receiver be appointed to take charge of all assets, real and personal, of Smyly & Co., including money. Intervenors claiming title of goods now in possession of receiver shall have the privilege of either having goods sold separately or by receiver and allowing the litigants to proceed over the fund arising from such or to take the goods and give security.

"It is ordered that the temporary restraining orders heretofore granted restraining the defendants, F. A. Smyly & Co., F. A. Smyly, John T. Moody and G. S. Brewster, and their agents and employees, are made permanent."

J. G. Bloodworth is made permanent receiver. The receiver must give a bond of $5,000. The temporary receiver is ordered to make returns to the court.

To Appoint Another Receiver.

The hearing for the appointment of a receiver for the Cotton States Belting and Supply Company will be taken up this morning. This is another one of the firms which it is charged was one of the dummies of Moody & Brewster. The supply company says that the interests in the business in the name of Moody is the property of Mrs. Moody and that the failure of Mr. Moody has nothing to do with it.

The receivership will be fought, as Manager Dascway says the company is perfectly solvent and can easily show itself so.

The College Annual Has Been Put on Sale in Atlanta—A Splendid Publication.

The '98 Pandora, the annual publication of the fraternities of the University of Georgia, is out and has been put on sale at J. F. Lester's bookstore on Whitehall street. Pandora for this year is one of the best volumes ever got out at the university and already a large number of them have been sold. The book is beautifully bound and well edited throughout and is a credit to the college and the young men who gave it their time and attention.

Pandora is recognized in college circles as one of the brightest annuals published in the south and the edition of this year in no wise detracts from its past reputation.

SHE WANTS A TOTAL DIVORCE.

The Petition of Mrs. Florence Johnson Is Filed in Court.

Mrs. Florence Johnson, through her attorneys, C. T. Ladson and J. M. Simonton, filed a petition with the clerk of the Fulton superior court asking that she be granted a total divorce from her husband, Fred A. Johnson, who is at present a resident of the state of New York.

The petition alleges that Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married November 27, 1885, and that the wife was deserted in June, 1893. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have one daughter, Adah May, aged twelve years, and Mrs. Johnson asks that she be allowed the charge of the child during her minority. The case will come up for hearing at the next term of court.

EMPLOYEES WILL UNFURL THE FLAGS

The Stars and Stripes Will Be Hoisted Today.

OTHER FLAGS WILL BE RAISED

Hightower Box Factory Men to Hoist Nation's Emblem.

LABORERS ARE PROVING VERY PATRIOTIC

Atlanta Terra Cotta Workers Raise a Flag Today—Smith & Higgins Raised One Yesterday.

EMPLOYEES of T. J. Hightower, Jr., will raise the stars and stripes over his box factory this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The employees have been raising money among themselves for some time with the intention of purchasing a flag for the factory and a few days ago when it was announced that the necessary amount had been obtained it was unanimously decided to hold the ceremony of hoisting the flag this afternoon.

The regimental band from Fort McPherson has been secured and patriotic airs will be discoursed during the ceremony. The crowd will join in the singing of national songs and several gentlemen of prominence in the city will participate, delivering appropriate addresses.

Refreshments will be served and it is the intention of the employees to make their flag raising a memorable event. Invitations have been issued to those interested in the factory and the friends of the employees are invited to be present.

This is the fifth or sixth flag that has been raised over factories in this city during the past few weeks and the fact that others are announced almost daily proves conclusively that the patriotism of the laboring people of Atlanta has been wrought up to a high pitch.

The factory is located on the corner of Glenn and Humphries streets and the large yard adjoining the buildings is big enough to hold a large crowd. It is in this yard that those who go to witness the flag raising will stand and they will be directly facing the temporary platform.

Flags Will Be Raised Today.

Animated by patriotic motives the employees of the Atlanta Terra Cotta Company will raise a United States flag over their factory this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The employees have been eagerly anticipating the event for some time and will make a gala occasion of the unfurling of the stars and stripes.

Colonel W. T. Moyers will be orator of the day and speaking on a patriotic subject, he will be in his element. Refreshments will be served directly after the flag raising and the friends of the Terra Cotta company and of the employees are invited to be present.

The city has now many flgs flying and a large number of others will soon be raised. It is thought that when Independence Day arrives Atlanta will be appropriately decorated with national emblems for the celebration which will occur on that occasion.

The action of the board of aldermen in passing a measure to supply all school buildings with flags will be appreciated by the thousands of school children of this city, who have been endeavoring for some time to hoist "Old Glory" over their buildings.

Smith & Higgins Raise a Flag.

Employees of the firm of Smith & Higgins, dry goods, 246 and 250 Peters street, hoisted a flag yesterday at noon. Appropriate addresses were made and several national airs were sung. The flag is large and yesterday attracted the gaze of many admirers.

After the flag raising the employees went to the lot adjoining the store and witnessed the operaion of "breaking dirt" for the new annex to be erected to the store. This annex is to be completed by September 1, 1898, and will considerably add to the floor space of the firm.

LADIES' AUXILIARY MEETS

Work of Improvement on the Parlors of the Y. M. C. A. Will Begin in the Next Two Weeks.

The ladies auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association met in the parlors of the association building yesterday afternoon to discuss plans for the proposed changes in the Young Men's Christian Association hall, which have been undertaken by the society. Some time ago the ladies met and agreed to raise $1,000 for the needed improvements to the building and their co-operation in the work has been a great help to the directors of the association.

The greater part of the amount the ladies promised to give has been raised and the balance will be subscribed in the next few weeks.

Twenty-five members of the auxiliary society were present yesterday afternoon, which was called to order by the president, Mrs. I. S. Mitchell, and it was determined to start the work on the rooms in the near future without waiting for the balance of the $1,000 to be raised.

The improvements will consist in new carpets and drapery for the Young Men's Christian Association parlors and a general refitting for the rooms on the second floor of the building.

The proposed work will greatly improve the appearance of the rooms and when the ladies finish their self-imposed task they will be able to present to the directors of the association some of the handsomest apartments in the city.

Along with the improvement of the rooms the society has decided to decorate the building extensively in honor of the confederate veterans and this will probably be done at once in order to have it ready for the big reunion in July.

Nothing was agreed upon, however, yesterday as to when the work proposed will start and the society adjourned to meet again next Tuesday afternoon, when the full arrangements will be made.

CAREY RAN FOR LIBERTY

A Bad Boy Dashes from the Police Court.

THERE WAS A LIVELY CHASE

The Boy Claimed He Ran Because Injustice Had Been Done Him—His Sentence Increased.

Right in the midst of Judge Andy's matinee yesterday afternoon a small negro prisoner made a dash for liberty, and half the policemen present and nearly all of the audience gave chase. For five minutes there was one of the liveliest runs that had been seen on Decatur street in many a day.

There were cries of: "Stop him!" "Catch him" And this with all sorts of whoops and yells created no end of excitement and fun.

Judge Andy had arraigned Carey Wood, a negro boy about twelve years old. The evidence showed that Carey had been annoying a harmless old Russian Jew on Decatur street by molesting his stock of goods and playing practical jokes.

The recorder, after he had heard the testimony, began as follows:

"You are a very bad boy, and I will fine you $10 and costs of court just to let——"

With a spin on his heel and a dart to the door, Carey disappeared from view before the astonished recorder and officers realized what had happened.

"Catch that fellow," cried out the recorder.

And then the policemen made a rush pell-mell for the door, and behind them flocked about a hundred people from the audience.

Down the steps went the fugitive with the police and the howling mob close at his heels. The boy was a swift runner, and was gaining on his pursuers at every step.

Then the bikes came into use, and Call Officers Chosewood and Covington jumped upon their wheels and went spinning down Decatur and Butler streets.

The boy had not counted on the bicycles, and after he had run through a lumber mill he appeared on Gilmer street, thinking himself safe. Noiselessly the bicycles crept up on him, and before he knew his pursuers were anywhere about, he was in the clutches of the officers.

Into the courtroom Carey was dragged by the policemen, followed by the crowd.

Panting and trembling, the boy said:

"I wouldn't er run ef I hadn't er knowed you fined me fur nuttin.'"

"I will change that fine of $10," said the recorder, "to a sentence of thirty days in the stockade, and that will teach you to let men alone and to have some respect for this court."

And Carey was sent out to the stockade for thirty days.

The Consul General at Florence Cables His Sympathy with Mrs. Glenn.

Mr. Dan Rountree received a cable message yesterday from Consul General Byington, the American representative at Naples, but sent from Florence, Italy, expressing his sympathy with Mrs. William C. Glenn in her bereavement.

When Colonel Glenn was in Europe last winter he spent some weeks at Naples and he and the consul general became good friends. They corresponded after colonel Glenn's return to Atlanta and the latter wrote to the consul general only a short time before his fatal illness. The announcement of Colonel Glenn's death was published in the Paris edition of The New York Herald.

ARKANSAS VETS WILL COME IN JULY

General John J. Horner, Third Division Commander, Arranges for Them.

HE COUNTS ON 400 TO 700

Horses and Carriages Are Engaged for the Staff and the Ladies.

SUPPLY OF SADDLES WILL BE SHORT

Atlanta Camp Elects Fifteen More Delegates to the Reunion—Interest in the Event Increasing.

BETWEEN 400 and 700 Arkansas veterans are coming to the reunion next month, says Major General John J. Horner, commander of the Arkansas division of the United Confederate Veterans. General Horner was here yesterday arranging for accommodations for his comrades. He engaged twenty-three horses for his own staff and thirteen for the staff of General D. A. Reeves, commander of the Fourth brigade of the Arkansas veterans. Carriages were also engaged and the Kimball house was selected as headquarters for the staff.

General Horner was out on a drive for an hour or two with Captain John Miller, and when he returned he stated that he had made satisfactory arrangements. Saddles will be scarce and most commands which come here will have to bring their saddles with them, as the demand will be greater than the supply. All the carriages in the city have been engaged for the reunion.

General S. W. Fordyce will be the commissary of the Arkansas veterans. General Horner wanted a building in the city for general headquarters for his comrades and one will probably be secured for him. He left yesterday afternoon for his home.

A large and life-like portrait of General John B. Gordon was brought to reunion headquarters yesterday. It will be hung in the auditorium at Exposition park and beside it will be a picture of General Robert E. Lee.

Unless the government gets through moving soldiers before the reunion the lines in this territory will have to borrow or lease passenger cars. Their equipment has been tied up for some time, either waiting for a movement or actually moving troops. Sometimes it occurs that the roads have to collect cars and hold them in readiness for several days, waiting for orders to move the soldiers. There will be ample passenger equipment for the veterans, but some of the roads may have to lease cars from connections during the reunion.

The strength of Atlanta camp 159, United Confederate Veterans, authorizes a representation of fifteen additional delegates, and by authority of the camp its commander, Colonel A. J. Westmoreland, has made the following appointments:

J. C. Courtney, S. H. Phelan, R. H. Milledge, W. W. Draper, Frank T. Graves, Max Corput, L. P. Thomas, W. D. Ellis, Martin Nally, E. T. Martin, Henry Jennings, George H. Force, S. H. Landrum, A. L. Holbrook, Clark Howell, Sr.

Reunion Notes.

The confederate camps of Greenville county, South Carolina, will send 150 members to the reunion in Atlanta next month. The veterans will come in uniform.

Louisville, Ky., Dispatch: The Confederate Veterans' Association held a meeting in Smith & Nixon's hall last evening. Owing to the fact that cards had been distributed announcing the meeting for Thursday evening, a poor crowd was present. The members of the association are desirous of securing the reunion of veterans for 1899, and hence it is necessary that a large delegation from Louisville attend the 1898 reunion, which is to be held in Atlanta next month. A committee was appointed to perfect arrangements and secure the names of those who expect to attend the reunion.

A committee from the camp of confederate veterans of Petersburg are writing to ascertain at what cost the camp can get board and lodging there during the reunion next month. The railroad fare from Petersburg will be about $8 for the round trip. It is likely that a large delegation from the camp will come to the reunion. As before stated, Miss Mattie Watson, one of Petersburg's most attractive and charming young ladies, has been appointed sponsor for Virginia.

Memphis Times-Scimitar: In all parts of the south the surviving veterans of the confederate armies are making preparations to renew the campaign around Atlanta, where, on July 20th, the annual reunion is to begin.

Major General A. J. Vaughan, commanding the Tennessee division, does not propose to be behind in this matter, but desires to take a full force to the front. He lost a leg down in Georgia some thirty-odd years ago and hopes to recover it or one equally as good on this occasion.

This morning the general issued the following, his first order bearing upon the Atlanta reunion:

"Headquarters Tennessee Division United Confederate Veterans, Order No. 1.—Memphis, Tenn., June 22, 1898.—The major general commanding congratulates his division throughout the state and his old comrades generally, over the approaching reunion to take place at Atlanta, Ga., on July 20-23, 1898.

"From all quarters it is learned that there will be a large attendance, and all of the Tennessee divisions who can possibly do so are expected to report and form in the procession to be commanded by General John B. Gordon. All members of the staff of the major general commanding this division are directed to report by letter to Lieutenant Colonel T. B. Yancy, quartermaster general, as Somerville, Tenn., so that he may secure quarters and provide horses for those who may attend. General George Moorman, adjutant general and chief of staff of United Confederate Veterans, requests that each member of the major general's staff will furnish him with three photos and three sketches of their lives, so that they may be used in the publication at the reunion.

"It is desired that members of the staff who cannot go to Atlanta will also send photos and sketches.

"A. J. VAUGHAN,
"Major General Commanding.
"Official: John P. Hickman, Adjutant General and Chief of Staff."

INVITED TO GO TO SAVANNAH.

The Central Asks the Commissioners to Examine Its Terminals There.

The members of the Georgia railroad commission have been invited by Vice President J. M. Egan to go to Savannah and inspect the company's terminals there. A question has arisen there over charges for hauling coal to the city water works.

On coal entering Savannah by rail the Central charges $1 for transferring it to the water works. That is the regular switching charge. When coal arrives by vessel and the road has to send a car to the wharves to be loaded, it charges the regular rates allowed by the commission.

Dixon & Murphy have a coal yard on the wharves. They get coal from the east by vessel, and when they want it delivered to the city water works they call on the Central. The Central says that is not a transfer, but is transportation, and the distance being three and a half miles from the coal yard to the water works by rail, the company charges 17½ cents a ton, or $3.50 a car, the regular tariff rate.

The coal dealers complained to the state railroad commission and that body set the case for a hearing next Tuesday. In order that the commissioners may clearly understand the situation, the railroad company has invited them to visit Savannah and look over the ground themselves.

Railway Notes.

President George C. Smith, of the Atlanta and West Point, is in Michigan.

The Illinois Central railroad announced that it will transport bicycles free between St. Louis and northern Michigan summer resorts.

The Omaha rate situation is becoming simplified. For territory within a radius of 150 miles around Omaha one fare will be charged excursionists, the extra $2 being eliminated.

The Burlington secured the contract for carrying Torrey's regiment of rough riders, going from Cheyenne to Jacksonville. It takes eighty-three cars to handle this body, which consists of 1,000 officers and men and 1,000 horses.

At the annual meeting of the Master Car Builders' Association, held at Saratoga last week, the following officers were elected to serve during the coming year: President, A. Schryver, of the Chicago and Northwestern; first vice president, J. F. Chamberlain, of the Boston and Maine; second vice president, J. J. Hennessy, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; third vice president, W. J. Roberts, of Atlanta; treasurer, G. W. Demorest, Northern Central, and secretary, John W. Cloud, of Chicago.

The Kansas railroad commission is investigating coal rates. The Texas commission recently brought suit in the United States court at Austin against the Kansas Southern railroad, which was charged with extortion in the matter of coal rates. The court rendered a decision this week sustaining the rates and turning down the commission.

The car accountants of the United States and Canada have been in session this week at Atlantic City. One hundred and seventy-five members were present.

HE DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.

Gus Williams, Who Was Run Over by a Train, Died Yesterday Morning.

Yesterday morning Gus Williams, the negro who was run over by a railroad train two days ago, died from his injuries at the Grady hospital.

Williams had an arm mashed off and it was thought at first that was his only injury and it was believed he would get well. But afterwards it was found that his head had been badly hurt and this, together with the fatigue caused by his walking a mile after he was run over, proved fatal. He was buried yesterday afternoon by his relatives.

STOCKS IRREGULAR

Gained Slight Fractions in Some—a Point or More in Others.

THE SHORTS COVERED EARLY

Decrease in Weekly Earnings of St. Paul Caused Sluggishness in the Grangers—Bonds Firm.

New York, June 24.—The stock market was irregular most of the day, the result of the trading showed net gains of slight fractions in most issues, but with several advances of a point or more in some securities which occupied a conspicuous position in the day's trading—notably Tobacco, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and the Northern Pacific shares. There was some covering of shorts early and a little more outside buying on the assurances given in Washington regarding Germany's attitude in the Philippines. Then there was some anticipation that Santiago might capitulate in time for the market to be supported by the heavy July disbursements. Rumors of an early settlement of the transcontinental war were again responsible for the strength in the Northern Pacifics, which were moderately supplied by London. The absorption recently by a syndicate of Baltimore and Ohio holdings of Western Union, which removed the fear of these large holdings being thrown on the market, was used as a lever in raising that stock, but there was realizing on the advance causing the stock to sag off. The decrease in St. Paul's weekly earning, the first since October, is accounted for by the sluggishness in the Grangers. Brooklyn Rapid Transit's maintenance of traffic gains, although now facing competition, gave strength to that stock. A movement against the shorts in Tobacco brought about a sharp advance in that specialty. People's Gas showed only an important fractional decline although under pressure nearly all day. Syndicate interests bought Baltimore and Ohio stocks and bonds, which were thrown on the market by small holders unprepared to pay the assessments under the reorganization. The stock broke badly at the outset, but subsequently recovered most of the loss. The bonds on the other hand showed conspicuous strength throughout the day.

Bonds displayed little feature today, but exhibited a very firm undertone, although there was a cessation of marked activity in some lines which have recently posed as leaders. Sales were $2,450,000.

Bid quotations in governments were unchanged aside from a rise of ¼ in new 4s.

Southern Exchange Stock Letter.

Atlanta, June 24.—The market today shows that there will be but little movement in either direction until we have a decided land engagement and on the result will depend the course of the security market. The market proved a trifle weak, and the prices at the close were a fraction off from yesterday.

Western Union made the best showing of any in the list.

Some operators are bullish on the grangers and Pacifics; others bearish on Sugar, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Manhattan, and still others bullish on the Vanderbilts and conservatively bearish on other issues. Some are bullish on the list without qualification. Western Union second advance commensurate with improvements other dividend payers.

Prospects of a fight between the Sugar company and the new competitors may bring lower prices for the stock.

Realizing by the bull pool in Manhattan was the apparent cause of the decline.

St. Paul shows the first decrease in earnings since last October.

The extreme irregularity of the American market in London today is due to the changing of interest from active issues into shares that have not yet advanced commensurately with other shares. Erie preferred, St. Paul and Reading advanced ⅛@¼, while New York Central is nominally ⅝ down on bid and Atchison ⅛ under American parity. Louisville and Nashville is firm.

Atlanta Exchange Stock Letter.

New York, June 24.—Sentiment was mixed today and at times it was evident that the bulls and bears were aggressively opposing each other. The bulls argued that prices should go higher on the prospects of a decisive victory at Santiago, the July dividend and interest disbursements and the good crop weather west. Higher money incident to the withdrawal of currency for war loan subscriptions, the possibility of temporary reverses in Cuban waters and the falling off in earnings of western roads were the bear considerations on which the party representing reactionalism expected prices to decline. The decrease in St. Paul's earnings for the third week of June simply emphasizes the point that we are now entering a period when railroad earnings will cease to compare favorably with those of the corresponding period last year. As long as the crop prospects continue as bright as they are at present there is no substantial reason why the grangers are not justified in selling at prevailing quotations. The more conservative interests are still inclined to advise their clients to get on the long side of Atchison preferred and American Tobacco and all the pacific stocks.

Now that the Baltimore and Ohio holdings of Western Union have apparently been absorbed by a wealthy interest, traders do not fear in taking hold of the stock on the argument that the stock has not enjoyed an advance commensurate with the recent improvements in other dividend paying shares.

Many traders continue bearish on Sugar, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Manhattan, while others talk of the Vanderbilts in a bullish strain, at the same time being conservatively bearish on other issues.

There are some operators who are bullish on the entire list without qualification.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Stock Letter.

Atlanta, June 24.—The fancies overshadowed the regular list today, and the former class, under lead of Tobacco and Brooklyn Rapid Transit, made advances of 1 to 2 per cent.

Sugar was erratic and at times weak, but sized up for the day, shows good strength.

Western Union fulfilled our prediction of yesterday, selling at 95. The street is at present very friendly to this stock. In addition to the belief that the old Baltimore and Ohio holdings have passed into strong hands, the earnings are increasing greatly, owing to the war press work, and par is predicted by its friends.

In the regular list the Klondikes were the leaders, Northern Pacific advancing over $1 a share. We have been, and still are, particularly friendly to this class of securities.

War cables say that Shafter's troops are near Santiago and the Spanish outposts are retreating. A decisive victory on the first engagement will have a great beneficial effect, while reverse may probably temporarily cause declines.

Post's Financial Cable.

New York, June 21.—The Evening Post's London financial cablegram says the stock market here continues quiet, the only feature today being a sharp rise in Spanish 4s and a heavy selling of Grand Trunk, the latter due to the poor traffic report.

Americans were lifeless. Baltimore and Ohio stock was sold heavily, but closed above the worst. Quotations for the new Baltimore and Ohio bonds are 96 for the 3½ per cents, 88½ for the 4s and 56¼ for the preferred.

The rise in Spanish 4s today was due to bears covering on an advertisement by the Spanish government of a decree which compels the stamping of bonds prior to the 30th of June in order to obtain payment of the July coupon in cash. The question now raised in the market is, whether in the future only such stamped bonds shall be deemed good for delivery here?—a question which naturally alarms the bears and will affect further international dealings in Spanish bonds.

New York, June 24.—By Associated Press: Operations in the cotton market were governed by a certain amount of hesitation today, inasmuch as startling developments were expected in the political situation, while orders from the speculative public were held back for further news from the cotton belt. On the opening a steady feeling prevailed, Liverpool having responded about as expected to our sharp rally of yesterday afternoon. Longs became disheartened, however, owing to the indifference shown by outsiders and sold in a scattered way, under which prices eased off several points. Later in the forenoon shorts became nervous and covered quite actively, with the result that prices rallied sharply to above the final figures of yesterday. Near the close prices eased off under realizing, closing barely steady at a net loss of 1 to 2 points. Total sales of futures today 200.

Atlanta Exchange Cotton Letter.

New York, June 24.—There was a noticeable disposition among traders in cotton today to exercise caution and discrimination in making transactions. There was also an inclination to take hold of the more deferred positions. Commission houses advised their purchase around 6c. Weather conditions is the all-important factor at present and should be watched very closely. Liverpool news today was not especially interesting and merely reflected an ordinary market for spot and future deliveries. The movement at the ports and other statistical exhibits were about as expected. There were no significant developments in the south and accounts from Fall River and other New England centers were ineffective, being of the same strain as on previous days of the week.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, June 24.—Liverpool showed a slight inclination toward improvement today, with sales on the spot 8,000 bales; futures more active. Opening prices were on a parity with last night's closing, and after the first call some strength was depicted with August and October leading for 3 to 5 points advance. Later weather reports and dullness caused some little wave in the ring, but the close was steady with probabilities favoring further advance. We look for a 8 to 10 points advance the coming week. Sales today 92,000 bales.

Southern Exchange Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, June 24.—The market opened at practically last night's closing figures. Liverpool showed 2 points advance in futures, with spots unchanged at 3 7-16d; market quiet. After opening the market advanced on favorable cable news and reports of continued drought in some parts of the belt. Port receipts today probably 2,500; last week 3,072; last year 219; in 1895 214.

The following are the weekly cotton statistics: Sales 51,000; American 49,000; trade takings 54,000; actual export 9,000; import 77,000; American 31,000; stock 1,116,000; American 1,027,000; afloat 55,000; American 46,000; sales for speculation 600; purchases for export 3,600. The market ruled steady and prices showed 3 to 4 points gain over yesterday's close.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, June 24.—The hopeful tone is continued in the dry goods market today. There were no phenomena which seems to better conditions. There are no advances in prices, and the bulk of the sales being made are in strictly summer lines, which are sold on concessions from quoted prices. The noteworthy exception is the demand for fall fancy prints in dark shades, which is well sustained at the prices quoted by sellers. Reports from various jobbing centers showed good average results for the season in most quarters. Both in jobbing and with retailers sales have been heavy. Print cloths are not so firm as they were earlier in the week. Regular 64 quarters are still quoted at 2c.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, June 24.—The reaction of last evening brought a better Liverpool today and some of the local traders covered freely during the morning, absorbing the cotton sold for southern account on crop prospects. Among traders the disposition is to leave the August position alone and to buy on depressions on the theory that the bull side is the safest at present prices. Little new trade is reported by commission houses, the dealings being confined to the trade with a general disposition to close outstanding contracts and await new developments regarding the crop.

World's Visible Supply of Cotton.

New Orleans, June 24.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, made up from special cable and telegraphic advices, compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and in 1895, the latter the 9,901,000 crop year. It shows a decrease during the week just closed of 103,939 bales, against a decrease last year of 122,051, and a decrease of 90,954 in 1895.

The total visible supply is 2,575,032, against 2,678,971 last week, 2,023,902 last year and 3,346,854 in 1895. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,265,032, against 2,389,971 last week, 1,659,602 last year and 2,930,754 in 1095, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc. 310000, against 289,000 last week, 364,300 last year and 416,100 in 1895.

The total world's visible supply of cotton shows a decrease compared with last week of 103,939 bales, an increase compared with last year of 551,130, and a decrease compared with 1895 of 771,822.

The Liverpool and Port Markets.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Atlanta, June 24.—Early cables were unchanged, and although closing Liverpool showed slight advances the market here was extremely narrow. The only support was some little covering by shorts. Harvesting is proceeding satisfactorily and all reports are far above government estimates. It looks certain that the new crop winter and spring wheat will be over 700,000,000 bushels. The only bull argument is the large short interest and northwest demand for cash wheat. This may cause some covering in futures and an advance of a few cents, but the consensus of opinion in the pit favor much lower prices. The closing was weak at near the lowest figure or 1¼c below yesterday.

Corn was dull with little trading and inclined to weakness, declining ⅝c on the day, while provisions showed strength and closed unchanged.

On the curb puts on September wheat opened at 65¾, high 65⅞, low 65⅝, close 65¾. Calls opened at 67⅝, high 67⅞, low 67⅝, close 67½.

Puts on September corn 32⅝ split, high 32⅝, low 32⅜ split, close 32⅝. Calls opened at 32⅞, high 32⅞, low 32¾, close 32⅞ bid.

DECLINE IN WHEAT

Due To Disappointing Liverpool News and Fine Harvesting Weather.

IMMENSE YIELD IS INDICATED

Fine Weather and Lower Cables Depressed Corn—Oats Sympathized. Provisions Shade Lower.

Chicago, June 24.—Fine harvest weather and the prospect of a much earlier movement of the new crop than usual weakened wheat today. July left off 1¼c lower and September 1¼@1⅜. Corn declined ½@⅝ and oats ¾@⅞c. Pork and lard closed 2½c lower and ribs unchanged.

A decline at Liverpool, where an advance was expected on the rise here yesterday, started wheat weak. September opened at from 67½c down to 67⅝c, and slid off to 67⅛c in a very few minutes, the latter showing ⅞@1c decline from yesterday's final price. There were plenty buyers at the concession, and there was soon enough of them to cause a quick recovery to 67⅝c. In addition to the bearish influence of lower foreign markets was the perfect condition of the weather throughout the region where harvesting is in progress. Accounts of crop prospects from the spring wheat region were of the most encouraging kind, excepting in a few instances from a portion of South Dakota on account of deficient rainfall. An official report applying to that state as a whole said that never before at this season were prospects so brilliant for an enormous yield. On this news the selling sentiment dominated, and prices sagged once more. The market continued to drop on advices from St. Louis that seven cars of new No. 2 red wheat had arrived there. The trade was more or less nervous over Armour's position. His large interest in cash wheat led many to think that he might undertake to manipulate the futures in the bull interest. The selling was rather cautious and more in the way of liquidation than in short selling. Lowest prices of the day were made near the close. Chicago received 25 cars, against 16 a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth received only 194 compared with 267 last year. It was explained from Duluth that of the 176 cars received there today 120 were from Minneapolis en route to eastern millers. The Atlantic port clearances of wheat and flour were equal to the enormous total of 1,080,000 bushel, but as that was supposed to be chiefly Leiter wheat being rushed to France before the duty should be reimposed it did not have very much effect. July opened ¼c lower at 74c, sold up to 74¼c, then declined to 73c, the closing figure. September started ⅝c lower at 67⅝@67½, rose to 67⅝, sold off to 66⅝@66¾c and closed at 66¾c bid.

Fine weather caused a drop in corn at the start. Holders of puts bought on the break and prevented any further decline during the first half of the session. Later, when wheat became so heavy, corn participated in the additional depression and had another ¼c decline. July opened ⅛c lower at 32½c, declined to 32¼@32⅜c, advanced to 32½, down to 32c and steadied to 32@32⅛c bid at the close.

Lack of cash demand and the other declines weakened oats. July began ⅛@¼c down at 23⅝c and sold off to 23c bid, the closing price.

Provisions were weak with the coarse grains. A large cash business was reported to have been done in ribs for domestic consumption. July opened 2½c higher at $9.55; declined to $9.45, then rose to $9.50, the closing price. The range in lard and ribs was inconsequential.

Estimated receipts tomorrow—Wheat 10 cars; corn 275; oats 145; hogs 20,000 head.

Atlanta Exchange Grain Leter.

Chicago, June 24.—Liverpool news was disappointing today and this feature, combined with the fine harvesting weather and excellent prospects for an immense yield throughout the country, justified the opening decline in wheat. Advices from St. Louis indicated that many of the recent serious crop damage reports were circulated on supposition and not on fact. The wheat which has arrived from Missouri thus far is said to be of tip-top quality, and it shows no effect of recent heavy rains. The weather map showed high temperatures and a few scattered showers, however, being unimportant. Argentine shipments of wheat for the week aggregated 216,000 bushels as compared with 272,000 bushels last week and none last year. Liverpool cables were practically unchanged, whereas it was opined that the rally there yesterday would have a tendency to advance prices on the other side. Paris quotations indicated an irregular market at that center. Chicago receipts were 25 cars, against 16 last year. Northwest receipts 370 cars, against 267 last year. The tax law which goes into effect July 4th, will compel scalpers to greatly curtail their operations and will consequently lessen trade and widen fluctuations.

Lower cables and fine growing weather, together with the heavy feeling in wheat, depressed corn.

Oats sympathized with the other declines. Provisions were a shade lower. Packers were inclined to buy.

THE TRADE SITUATION.

Remarkably Large Exports of Cereals the Noteworthy Feature.

New York, June 24.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say tomorrow:

"Very little of the new business seen, in proportion to the aggregate, has been caused by the war. Neither has the collapse of the wheat speculation caused the expected decrease of shipments, for exports continue remarkably large. Gold comes or does not come as we want it, the world's markets being evidently at our command. An offering of bonds by the government brings out at the start bids for more than three times the amount offered, while the popular subscription already for three-quarters of the amount exhibits in strong light the confidence of the people.

"Wheat ceases to fall and begins to rise in price because foreign needs are not yet satisfied. Atlantic exports for the week were, flour included, 3,246,205 bushels, against 1,445,947 last year, and Pacific exports 517,153, against 87,089 last year, and the demand is not of a speculative character. The world's need of grain is greater than ever, and 213,821,567 bushels of wheat and 207,317,483 bushels corn have gone abroad already with a week to spare, far more than was ever before exported in one year.

"Corn was steady without much fluctuation, exports being 2,547,723 bushels for the week, against 1,660,922 last year. Other grain exports have been unusually heavy.

"The industries, at the season when stoppages are to be expected, maintain production surprisingly. There are very few interruptions on account of labor, and wage scales for the coming year have nearly all been amicably settled.

"The iron industry is very dull at the east, with complaint that prices do not rise, but at Pittsburg and the west the works are getting more business constantly, and are even competing so sharply that prices are slightly lower for bars, cut nails, steel rails and grey forge, while southern iron is also offered lower there and at the east. The enormous demand from agricultural regions for implements, fencing, cars, railway equipment and all sorts of building is the nothworthy feature of this remarkable year.

"Wool is a shade stronger.

"Cotton has weakened three-sixteenths, with excellent crop prospects, but a larger demand for goods is seen, though not as yet enough to cause any advance in prices. Reports of distribution are generally encouraging.

"Failures for the week have 285 in the United States, against 216 last year; and eleven in Canada, against twenty-four last year."

Bradstreet's Review.

New York, June 24.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Reflection of the advanced stage of the season is found in a perceptible quieting down of distributive trade in many parts of the country, and accompanying this have been announcements of the fixing of periods of annual shutdowns in many industrial lines, but significant of the changed conditions which now animate and control business as compared with corresponding periods in previous years are the continued large gains in the volume of bank clearings over preceding years, quite favorable reports from most of the country's leading industries, notably, iron and steel, in which next year's wage scales are being adjusted with unexampled ease, comparatively heavy exports of cereals and its products from most of the leading ports, and other less than the usual shading of prices common at this period of the year as the result of the advance into the mid-summer period. Following the demoralization in wheat prices have come of a more steady tone and the growth of a feeling that perhaps the bear movement in prices may be overdone, as was the bull movement, which culminated a month ago. With the exception of a rather spotted condition of the wheat crop in different states, chiefly as the result of too much moisture, the crop situation in the country, as a whole, has rather improved. Less is heard, however, about extravagant wheat yield and estimates, but trade opinion inclines to expect the production of a crop of wheat in excess of all previous totals.

"The iron situation, while encouraging, as present business is concerned, has not developed sufficiently to allow of any very pronounced forecasts of next season's business. Concessions made by employers, however, in this line would seem to indicate confidence in a continuance of a large business at least at prevailing prices, which, it should not be forgotten, are in numerous instances higher than they were a year ago.

"The tone of the cotton manufacturing has quite perceptibly improved, this being due perhaps on one hand to the placing of large amount of bleached goods at price concessions and to the development in some degree of the delayed eastern demand for summer fabrics.

"Less satisfaction is expressed in the woolen goods trade, and business here is classed as slow and unprofitable, with raw wool reflecting dullness in manufacturing and unchanged eastern quotations.

"Cereal exports are naturally much smaller than in recent weeks, but are still heavily in excess of preceding years.

"Wheat shipments for the week aggregate 3,799,470 bushels, as against 4,396,000 bushels last week, but compared with 3,156,000 bushels in this week a year ago, 2,837,000 bushels in 1896, 1,996,000 bushels in 1897, and 1,875,000 bushels in 1894.

"Corn exports show a very slight falling off, aggregating for the week 3,902,521 bushels, against 4,106,000 bushels last week, 2,281,000 a year ago, 1,736,000 bushels in 1896, and 884,000 bushels in 1895.

"Business failures for the week in the United States are about normal, numbering 220, as compared with 207 last week, 215 this week a year ago, 218 in 1896 and 215 in 1895.

"Business failures in the Dominion of Canada this week number 19, against 19 last week, 17 this week a year ago, 19 in 1896 and 28 in 1895."

WOMAN and ...SOCIETY.

Miss Ruth Cunningham Made a Sponsor.

The Sons of Veterans have appointed Miss Ruth Cunningham as their sponsor from Georgia at the ceremonies of the reunion. This appointment will add to the galaxy of southern beauties to be in the city at the time one of the fairest flowers in the southland, since Miss Cunningham's beauty and charm have made her a noted belle. She is of the blonde type that makes the combination of golden brown hair, gray eyes and an exquisite complexion a subject of delight to the painter and poet. She is an enthusiastic Daughter of the Confederacy, while her deep interest in the Atlanta Relief Association, of which she is a member, should be an inspiration to the Georgia soldiers of '98.

Among the sponsors so far appointed Atlanta and Georgia have three charming representatives. Miss Callie Jackson has been appointed by General Lee, of Mississippi, to represent the department at the reunion; Miss Caroline Lewis Gordon has been appointed sponsor for the veterans of Georgia and Miss Cunningham is sponsor for the Sons of Veterans.

Daughters of Confederacy Meet.

Yesterday afternoon the Daughters of the Confederacy held a large and enthusiastic meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Raine, chairman of the committee of arrangements.

A number of chairmen of the various committees made reports that indicated that a great deal of work has been accomplished and that the Daughters of the Confederacy will make the social side of the reunion its most brilliant feature. Circular letters will be issued in a few days that will be addressed to the president of the 250 local chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. This letter will include an invitation to the visiting strangers to present their credentials To the committee who will receive during the reunion at the Atlanta Woman's Club. The badges to be worn by the Daughters during the reunion will be exquisite souvenirs of the occasion. Their design is the artistic work of Mrs. Julius Brown and her committee.

The Daughters of the Confederacy will meet next Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Mrs. James Jackson requests that the committee on general arrangements and the committee on form of invitation will meet with her at her residence on Linden street Monday afternoon, June 27th, at 5 o'clock.

The governing board of the Order of Robert E. Lee held an important meeting yesterday afternoon.

Letter Issued by Council of Jewish Women.

One of the strongest organizations of women in the country is that of the Jewish Council of Women. The Atlanta chapter of the council recently gave to the Atlanta Relief Association $64, having acted on the following letter:

"Dear Sisters—Our country lies under the stress of a great trial. We are in the midst of a war which may at any moment bring untold suffering both on those who, sacrificing all for their country, have gone to the front, and on those left behind who are anxiously watching and hoping that the war undertaken in the name of humanity may, for the sake of humanity, be brought to a speedy close.

"It is time for each and every one of us to show our loyalty—to stand ready to aid at the moment when we may be needed. Volunteers at home must be trained and instructed as well as those in the field.

"The Council of Jewish Women considers itself such a band of volunteers and stands ready to serve in whatever way it may be called upon. With its widespread organization in sixty-two cities, in twenty-nine states, its aid and co-operation should be felt as a blessing.

"The executive board therefore urges upon each and every section to take such steps at once as may enable you to give money or personal service in your city whenever the need may arise. It urges you to call a special meeting to consider the best plan of action in your city and to appoint at such meeting a special committee with instructions and power to act at a moment's notice. It advises you to ascertain what other forces are at work in your city and to offer at once to co-operate with them that there may be no clashing or over-lapping, but that each may act intelligently and wisely with and for all. If no such forces are at work the board advises you to take the initiative to bring them together, or to take the first step in that direction.

"Let us act promptly and wisely for our soldiers and sailors. Let us consider and sympathize with those left at home who need a cheerful word, and carefully and quietly aid those who, for the time being, may be dependent because the care taker and provider is called away, and let us take great care that no idea of charity be connected with any act which should be for patriotism and loyalty.

"The definite and detailed action in each city must, of course, be left to the wisdom and discretion of each section acting as a whole. Money will be needed. Prepare yourselves at once to furnish it freely. Time and thought will be needed; give them cheerfully, sinking your identity if need be. Like those in the army, let each one of us be a soldier, following the leader whom we trust, and obeying—putting aside all personal bias and acting only as loyal citizens.

"In Illinois a state organization has just been formed, and called 'The Army and Navy League.' It is to organize local committees in counties and cities, all of which will act through the central body. If there is such an organization in your state, formed or about to be formed, join your forces and resources to it. But in any case inform yourselves, and be ready and on the alert to serve.

"At the same time this letter was prepared New York was considering the same question. The following resolution was sent to us, which we include with very great pleasure:

"'810 Park Avenue, New York City—Miss Sadie American, Corresponding Secretary C. J. W. Dear Madam: At the regular monthly meeting of the New York section of the Council of Jewish Women, held Monday, May 8th, the following resolutions were adopted:

"'Whereas, Our country, the United States of America, is now engaged in war with Spain, and

"'Whereas, The members of the New York section of the Council of Jewish Women, sympathizing with our country in this national crisis, and desiring to give such practical aid as is within our power, therefore, be it

"'Resolved, That the New York section suggests to the national board the advisability of bringing the feelings and sentiment of the New York section to the notice of the other sections of the Council of Jewish Women, so that we may, as a national organization, offer our services for the relief of our soldiers.

"'REBEKAH KOHUT, Chairman.'

"This letter has been sent to all general officers, presidents of sections and the Jewish press.

"As we are not informed of the names of the newly elected presidents, we ask you to at once send it to the present incumbent.

"We ask that an urgent call for a meeting be sent, such meeting to be held within a week after receipt of this letter, and that at the meeting you take some action and inform us at once of its nature. The board wishes to send an official letter to the president as soon as it has information that its sections can be depended on to carry out its advice.

"We ask that this letter be read at the meeting and that each one do what she can freely and willingly that the Council of Jewish Women may stand in the forefront of loyal women, who, though deprecating that the nations have not passed beyond the stage where war is possible, yet do what in them lies to render it less hideous and fearful.

"Let faith and humanity truly be our guiding stars, and let us live up to their demands.

"In fellowship for humanity, therefore, I am cordially, SADIE AMERICAN,
"Corresponding Secretary.
"HANNAH G. SOLOMON, President."

The work of relief for the Georgia volunteers that has been going on for several weeks past has attracted praise everywhere and the best women in the state have gone into the work with a will.

Mrs. W. Y. Atkinson, at the head of the state movement, has taken steps for the organization of relief work and has appointed assistants in each of the congressional districts. The following communication was received from her yesterday:

"Editor Constitution—It has been a source of gratification to me to observe the general interest manifested in the state for the organization of relief associations for the benefit of the Georgia troops. I would suggest that an active state organization be formed to further encourage and advance this work, thereby securing a uniform harmony and co-operation in carrying out the plan proposed. To assist me in the furtherance of this, I have appointed the following ladies as vice presidents in the various congressional districts:

"First district, Mrs. P. W. Meldrim, Savannah; second district, Mrs. Shelby Carter, Albany; third district, Mrs. Marie L. BENEFIT PERFORMANCE TO BE BRILLIANT

Officers of Local Military Met Yesterday Afternoon and Promised Their Co-operation.

To the Atlanta Public.

The young ladies of the Atlanta Relief Association have made arrangements with the Grand Stock Company for a benefit performance at the Grand opera house on next Monday night, June 27th.

The proceeds derived from this performance will be used for the benefit of the Atlanta volunteer soldiers, who have gone to the front and those who are to follow. The undersigned officers in the Georgia militia appeal to a generous public to give the ladies their hearty co-operation in the work and show their appreciation of their efforts in behalf of the soldiers by bestowing upon them the patronage that so worthy cause deserves.

The benefit performance to be given at the Grand Monday evening for the relief of the Atlanta soldiers who have gone to the front and those soon to follow will bring out one of the largest audiences that has even filled the house. The entertainment, given as it is, under the auspices of the Atlanta Relief Association, assures its popularity, while the cause for which it is given commends it to the public. The officers of the Georgia militia met yesterday at the office of Captain J. W. English, and after consideration of the work accomplished by the Atlanta Relief Association and its strength as an organization, determined to express their approval of it and attend the benefit performance with their companies Monday evening. They further subscribed their names to a card, published above, by which they make an appeal to the public to substantially recognize the work of the Atlanta Relief Association by attending the performance Monday evening and thereby contributing directly to the fund for the soldiers who have gone to the front or who may go in the future. The proceeds of the entertainment will go entirely for this purpose.

Flag for Third Regiment.

Out of the proceeds of the entertainment Monday evening the young ladies of the Atlanta Relief Association will purchase the flag which they will present to the Third regiment now preparing to leave Atlanta. The matter has not yet been formally acted upon by the association, but will be brought up at the next meeting. In reference to this matter Miss Powell, the president of the association, said yesterday:

"I have assured Colonel Candler that we will do for the Third regiment, and any other that may leave Atlanta, what has been done for those who have already gone to the front."

When asked when the Second regiment, now at Tampa, would receive their flag Miss Powell stated that the flag would be in the hands of the regiment the 4th of July, as every effort would be made to have the presentation exercises at Tampa that date.

The Play To Be Presented.

The stock company held a rehersal of the benefit play, "The District Attorney," yesterday morning and the performance is one that will assure its universal favor. The dramatic effects are excellent, the scenes stirring and the best members of the troup will play the title roles. The play was selected for its strength and the fact that it is one of the best written by Fiske and Kline.

All the lower boxes have been sold and 150 seats reserved for the military, who will appear in uniform. The stage and boxes will be elaborately decorated with flags and between acts the orchestra will render the popular national airs. Seats are on sale at the box office at the Grand.

MUCH JEANS FROM GEORGIA

Captain Kincaid, of Griffin, Gets a $300,000 Contract for Army.

HE WILL MAKE 2,000,000 YARDS

The Soldiers Will Wear Trousers Made from Georgia Cotton—Kincaid Fully Equipped to Fill Order.

The soldiers in Cuba will wear trousers made of Georgia jeans, manufactured from Georgia cotton. Captain Kincaid, of Griffin, has obtained a contract from the government for the manufacture of 2,000,000 yards of jeans suitable for trousering.

The price is to be 15 cents a yard, the whole contract amounting to $300,000.

This is the first contract for the manufacture of supplies of any kind awarded to the south so far as known here. The Kincaid mills at Griffin represent more than $500,000 of invested capital and $150,000 more is being spent to increase the capacity of the plant. They employ 600 men, women and children. They make nearly all the goods used in the skirts of women bicycle riders. This is an immense trade with the mills. They also make more Turkish towels than any other plant in the United States and when the new machinery is in they will manufacture more Turkish towels at Griffin than are made anywhere else in the world.

Captain Kincaid, the president of the company, sent over to Paris a few months ago and got some of the prettiest patterns of French dress goods. He has since been turning out the same patterns here in Georgia. Captain Kincaid is a progressive business man and it can be said for him that the goods he makes for the army will be the best the soldiers get. His mills are noted for their fine workmanship and the high grade of the goods. The plant can handle the order easily, but it means plenty of work for some time to come.

AT THE GRAND.

The matinee of "All the Comforts of Home" at the Grand by the stock company today promises a record breaking business for even such a large theater as this one. This merriest of farcial comedies has certainly made the biggest kind of a hit with the patrons of the Grand, and last night saw another immense audience heartily enjoy this humorous conceit. The news of a good play travels fast and this excellent organization could have no better means of advertising than is given by the vast audiences which nightly applaud the efforts of the company. There is much to amuse and entertain the children as well as the grown folks in the four acts of "All the Comforts of Home," and today's matinee will see a large gathering of the little ones. Miss Lyons makes a most charming appearance in tights. Miss Nan Mifflin makes an excellent boy and her gyrations form no little amusement to all. The last performance of this play occurs tonight. Next week the company will be seen in both serious and comedy work, when "The District Attorney" and "Arabian Nights" will be the bill. The management again calls attention to the fact that at the matinees all seats are reserved and they can be secured well in advance.

HIS MISSION IS TO HANG FLANAGAN

Walter A. Wood Makes a Strong Statement in Police Court.

TOOK A WILD RIDE IN THE CITY

When Under Arrest He Said He Came Here to Hang Noted Murderer.

SAYS HE IS A LAWYER FROM CHATTANOOGA

Told the Recorder That the Governor of Tennessee Sent Him Here—It Is Believed He Is Demented.

A YOUNG man, who claimed to an attorney from Chattanooga, stood up in the police court yesterday afternoon and made the startling announcement that he was in Atlanta for the purpose of seeing that Flanagan was hanged, and that he had been sent on that mission by the governor of Tennessee.

Bicycle Officer Martin was called by a hackman yesterday morning to arrest a stranger who had ridden over the city for two or three hours and refused to pay hack hire. The hackman stated that the young man kept riding from street to street and had declined to get out or name any special destination. When asked for his fare he refused to pay and told the negro if he didn't drive up he would get his head shot off.

The officer arrested the young man and carried him to the police barracks. The stranger gave his name as Walter A. Wood and his home as Chattanooga, Tenn.

In the police court yesterday afternoon the case against Wood was called, but neither the arresting officer nor the hackman was present. When asked by the recorder why he had been arrested, Wood made the following remarkable statement, speaking in a clear tone and good diction:

"I am in this city for the purpose of securing testimony to hang the murderer Flanagan. I am an associate in the law business in Chattanooga with Colonel Joseph Cliff and we have been employed by Governor Taylor, of Tennessee, to see that Flanagan does not escape the gallows. I did take a ride in a hack, but the cabman did not find the house for which I was looking, therefore I would not pay him. He told me he could find the place and he did not fulfill his part of the contract and I was not liable for the debt."

The recorder dismissed the case and Wood started from the courtroom. To a Constitution reporter he afterwards stated that he was here on a secret mission and that he did not wish anybody to know that he was seeking to have the gallows get Flanagan.

"You see," he said, "I have been sent here by the governor of Tennessee, and he would not wish to have me give the whole snap away. I suppose you have some curiosity to know why the governor of Tennessee should interest himself in this murder case? Well, that's a great political secret and I cannot divulge it. We saw by the newspapers that there was some probability of Flanagan getting his sentence commuted to life imprisonment and so we decided that the time had come to act. Say, while I cannot tell you everything, I will simply hint to you that Flanagan came from my state and his brothers are now residing there. Just put two and two together and you will get the result. Can't you figure it out? Well, I am sorry, but I have told you all I can."

Wood said he was stopping at the Kimball and would be glad to have all the newspaper men call on him. From the barracks he said he was going to the office of Lawyer Hutchison, whom he expected to have a confidential chat with about the Flanagan case.

While Wood was talking to the reporter outside the courtroom, Recorder Calhoun was holding his court on the inside. Wood walked off and it was thought he was gone. In a few minutes the recorder looked up and saw the young man bowing before him.

"What do you want now?" asked Judge Calhoun in surprise.

"Want?" replied Flanagan's mysterious Nemesis, "I want to get out of here. I have wandered all around this prison and I can find no outlet."

A policeman volunteered to show the stranger the stairway leading to the street and Wood disappeared and was seen no more.

Wood is a well dressed young man of good address. Those who saw him in the police court believe he is demented.

MANY OBSTACLES FOR CYCLORAMA

Park Board Is Having Trouble Repairing the Painting.

CONTRACTOR GAVE UP HIS JOB

And Inspector Pittman Has Had to Proceed as Best He Could.

CANVASS PUNCTURED BY A RAFTER

Oratorical Contest Will Decide the Best Man for Lecturer—The Park Board Met Yesterday.

THE park commissioners are having a time repairing the cyclorama at Grant park. Ever since Mr. Gress offered to present the picture to the city, innumerable obstacles have arisen, which on several occasions portended the painting's ruin. An appropriation for repairs was finally made, however, and several weeks ago the work started, but unexpected hindrances have again arisen with which the commissioners are pulling their hair to know how to dispose of in the best way. One gives promise of involving the city in a law suit.

When the bids for repairs to the frame work were opened, J. M. Flucker, a local contractor, was awarded the contract. He immediately bought material and started to work, but it was only a few days until garnishments began to appear, it is said, by the wholesale, and Flucker found it impractical for him to continue work. He therefore gave up his contract, and the city found itself not only with an uncompleted job on its hands, but also confronted by the claims of various firms in the city for materials furnished Flucker. If settlements are not made with these firms, the total claims of which will amount to several hundred dollars, they will most likely enter suit for their money, it is said. Unfortunately no bond was required of Flucker, and the city is a loser thereby.

Building Inspector Pittman came to the rescue by taking charge of the construction, employing a foreman and continuing the job as efficiently as possible. The next day after Flucker gave up his contract he applied at the cyclorama for the position of foreman, but was not accommodated. It is said that Flucker's bid was so low that it would have been impossible to make any money out of the contract. Mr. Pittman is still superintending the work, and the new frame work will be completed in a short while. The park board authorized the city attorney and the chairman to confer with the firms having claims and arrive at some satisfactory adjustment if possible.

Hindrance No. 2.

The cyclorama at present has very little protection from the weather, and this fact has been a great source of annoyance to Painter O. Pause, who is attempting to make the figures on the canvas recognizable. He cannot afford to allow water to touch his canvas, and has adopted extraordinary methods to keep out the rain during the past week. Several days ago he attempted a new experiment which kept out the elements well enough, but which wrought havoc on his canvas.

Pause was daubing out the blood-stained expression of a dying soldier directly under one of the biggest holes in the roof. The elements grew dark, and fearing the hole above might admit a deluge of water, he ordered the carpenters toe pile a lot of lumber over the aparture, without observing the rotten rafter in the roof.

Soon there was a terrible crash, and amidst the falling debris of lumber and roof, the picture was decorated with a hole three feet wide and thirty feet long, which completely obliterated three generals and several hundred privates.

The question then arose as to who was to blame for the accident. Pause claimed he did not know the roof was rotten. The commissioners think—at least some of them—that he should have displayed better judgment than to pile heavy lumber over one rafter. The matter has resulted in several conferences with the mayor and Chairman Haas, of the park board, who decided to allow Pause $125 to patch the hole, which Pause did.

The question was considered at the meeting yesterday, and all the commissioners decided to concur in this action, with the exception of Mr. Wey, who thought Mr. Pause was responsible and voted accordingly.

Plum for the Best Orator.

When the repairs on the cyclorama are completed a lecturer will have to be engaged to explain the diffrent points of interest of the picture to the public. He must be a versatile historian and must have a fluent tongue. The remuneration has been fixed, and A. M. Cox, C. C. Hay and J. L. Mosteller, all well known in the city, have applied for the position. All three say they are fully conversant with the history of the late war, and can impress it upon audiences with thrilling effect.

The board has adopted a unique method of determining the best man. On the afternoon of July 6th, at 4 o'clock, the commissioners will assemble at the cyclorama and hear a lecture from each of the three candidates. The once making the best impression on the commissioners will be given the job.

No candidate will be allowed to hear the others speak, for fear he might "steal their thunder," as Mr. Haas expressed it, and the public will be invited to the exhibition.

Brooks Takes Too Much Time.
William Brooks is a small negro who always has plenty of time to spare, but in spite of that he yesterday appropriated a timekeeper that was keeping time peacefully for its owner, and now William is likely to "do time" himself, and he says that another time he will take more time when he wants to steal time and not pawn the stolen goods to anyone where they will be apt to be found in so short a time.

I have a customer who owns a lovely lot on the very best part of Peachtree street, surrounded by the most beautiful houses in Atlanta. The owner cannot afford to build a suitable house on it and wishes to exchange it for a less expensive lot in a choice location on the north side. If you own a nice building site and wish to pay some to "boot" and get on Peachtree, come to see me.
On a nice street, in a quiet location on the south side of the city, I have a well built, comfortable seven-room cottage with modern conveniences and with a four-room tenant's house in the rear, fronting another street, all of which can be bought for $2,500, because the owner wishes to realize on it at once.
If there is any trade in you come in. G. W. Adair.
